DOOM NEW DICTATORSHIP BILL

AIMS OF FRANCE NOT OPPOSED TO U.S., ENVOY SAYS

Denies Nazi Troops Are in Syria.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Gaston Henry-Haye, French ambassador to the United States, tonight declared that Franco-American relations are being complicated by "false rumors or intentionally exaggerated reports" in replying to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's declaration against French collaboration with Germany. He declared that the destiny of France never could be opposed to the destiny of America.

Gaston Henry-Haye [A. P. Wirephoto.]

In a formal statement issued, after he had sought an audience with Hull in vain, the ambassador denied that Nazi troops are operating in force in French possessions in the near east and Africa. However, he insisted that France will defend French territory against any attack—if Britain takes the initiative in Syria or at Dakar.

Made to Wait Turn.

Henry-Haye tried to arrange a meeting with Secretary of State Hull, whose vigorous denunciation of Franco-German coöperation of yesterday was interpreted as a final warning to the Vichy government and the prelude to severance of diplomatic relations if France's actions do not please the administration.

The state department said that no conference could be arranged today, that the French ambassador would have to wait his turn. So the ambassador released a statement at a press conference.

Henry-Haye admitted that France is not acting as America would have her act, but said that she also is not acting as Germany would like to have her act. He reminded newspaper men that France was vanquished and is eating the bitter fruits of defeat, but said that the defeated Frenchmen are the same people we loved so ardently before that defeat and over the long period of warm Franco-American relations.

Follow Road of Her Destiny.

"No propaganda, no false rumors, can prevent the French nation, which has such a long and glorious past, from following the road of her destiny," he said. "I can assure, solemnly and most sincerely, that, in the French conception, the destiny of France can never be opposed to that of America.

"All the news pretending that German troops were at Dakar, Casabianca, or French Mediterranean ports have been emphatically denied and the official representatives of the United States in those places can assert that these informations are contrary to truth," he said.

"Untrue also is the statement that German forces landed at Latakia, Syria.

"Furthermore, I am able to deny formally today that any airborne axis troops ever landed in the French possessions of the near east.

Will Defend Territory.

"But true is the statement of the leaders of France that they will defend French territories against any attack.

"Incontestable is also the declaration that French forces will never, by air, sea, or land, take the initiative of any operation against the British."

The ambassador took a dig at Hull's warning, which said that America had aided France by supplies of food and threatened to cut off food shipments if France persisted in warming up to Germany.

"We are deeply grateful to the American government for the four shipments of food sent to France, thru the good American Red Cross, but may I be permitted to recall that our most urgent needs were estimated at roughly 170 shiploads to be purchased in the United States, with the frozen funds accumulated thru the thrift of our forefathers," he said.

BRITAIN RATIONS CLOTHING; SHIPS IT TO AMERICA

Stores Here Report No Shortage.

Great Britain, altho she has placed her home folk under a clothing ration, is pouring millions of dollars worth of both raw materials and manufactured articles into the United States market in a steady stream of shipments, a canvass of Chicago stores proved yesterday.

The "no shortage of British goods" story told by Chicago clothiers appeared to contradict the statement of Oliver Lyttelton, president of the British board of trade, when the clothing ration was announced. He asserted that rationing was necessary and fair, saying it was not only a problem of raw materials, "but also a problem of factories and plants, which we have to turn from the necessities of peace to the necessities of war."

Customs Figures Cited.

While no figures were available on the dollar volume of English imports to the Chicago area, Collector of Customs Joseph A. Ziemba is of the opinion that trade with the British empire is as large as it was before the start of the war. Customs figures showed that $7,337,865 was collected on foreign imports in the Chicago area during January and February of 1941 as compared with $5,643,991 during the same months in 1940.

National figures showed a small decline in British imports.

Latest figures available, those for January and February of 1941, showed that customs collections on goods imported from England totaled $19,219,657 for all ports in the United States. The same months in 1940 showed a collection of $23,119,191 from British imports.

"The English may be under a clothing ration," said Arthur B. Fesler, buyer of men's clothing for Carson Pirie Scott & Co., "but they must be making the English do without in order to keep up their foreign business.

Delivery in 60 Days.

"There are more English salesmen working now than before the war. Some of them are guaranteeing delivery within 60 days. We do at least $300,000 per year in business in imports. We have not felt any war pinch."

Kenneth F. Kittenhofen, clothing salesman in Marshall Field & Co. men's store, said that store's clothing stock was 35 per cent English goods and that there is no reduction this year in English goods.

"There is more of a shortage in domestic goods at present," he said. "You know the United States government has taken over 60 per cent of the output of four of the largest mills"

More Trade Than Last Year.

Officials of the Marshall Field foreign department said England is doing more business with the store than it did last year. The British are doing a good job of making delivery, they said, and the normal flow of goods has been kept up.

Employés of other stores pointed out that the British recently have placed a 33 1-3 per cent tax on woolens. They said, however, that increased prices of domestic goods have kept the British goods in competing range.

M. E. Nelson, manager of the Field neckwear department, said that while foreign imports of neckwear had been reduced, the store still does more than $35,000 business per year with England. Many higher priced ties formerly came from France and Italy—trade which has been cut off.

No War Pinch Felt.

Harold E. Sundell, manager of the clothing department of A. Starr Best, said the store stock included 20 to 25 per cent English woolens, and added that the department had felt no war pinch. C. R. Carson, buyer for the neckwear department, said his stock was 50 per cent British with a normal amount on hand.

Miss Ethel Shimmin of Capper and Capper said one-third of the store's stock originates in Great Britain, including men's suits, hosiery, neckwear. The concern has suffered no shortage because of war, said Miss Shimmin, and there is no evidence of a coming shortage.

Peace Appeal Starts a War in So. Milwaukee

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Milwaukee, Wis., June 6.—Usually peaceful, suburban South Milwaukee was divided by controversy today over the interruption of the speech which J. C. Bettinger, president of the school board, delivered at commencement exercises of the South Milwaukee High school last night.

In the course of his address, Bettinger expressed the probability that some of the boys in the graduating class would find themselves in the army soon. He urged his audience to write to President Roosevelt reminding him of his campaign pledges to keep out of war and to protest against war. He was urging the audience to invest 1 cent in a postal card of protest when the Rev. K. F. Kedzierski of S.S. Peter and Paul National Catholic church, whose son was one of the graduates, interrupted.

"Stop talking politics," he shouted. "Talk about respect for law and the country and the President. This is commencement."

Walk Out on Services.

There seemed to be a division in the audience and when the Rev. Kedzierski stalked out 40 or 50 others followed him, leaving the graduating class of 187 seated in the special section and the rest of the audience waiting while Mr. Bettinger continued.

"Invest 1 cent in a postal card," the president of the school board went on. "Address it to the President and write on it, 'Mr. President, no foreign wars.' The President is interested in learning the majority opinion. If all the fathers and mothers in the country would send a postal card there would be no war. Don't pass the buck. Your son's life is worth 1 cent."

Bettinger reminded the audience that at Memorial day exercises a week ago the names were read of 15 South Milwaukee boys who did not return from the last war. "Another world war will mean a higher mortality," he said.

Both Congratulated.

"Who is it that is beating the war drums?" he asked. "One class is typified by a United States senator, 82 years old, who is heartily in favor of 'licking hell out of Hitler.' It doesn't take much courage to hide behind a tombstone 3,000 miles away and make a statement like that."

Today, the Rev. Mr. Kedzierski said he received calls of approval for his walkout. The president of the school board also was congratulated for his stand. The news of the unexpected excitement at the commencement exercises spread thru the city rapidly.

South Milwaukee is an industrial city of 10,000. Its population contains a considerable foreign element. There are a large number of persons of German and Polish descent.

AUSTRALIA PROHIBITS GIFTS FOR PURCHASE OF ARMS FOR BRITAIN

BY E. R. NODERER.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, June 6.—Collection of money in Australia to be sent to London to buy war equipment for Britain has been prohibited, the federal government announced today.

"The only effect monetary gifts to Britain's armament effort can have is to subtract from the funds in Australia and London available for our own needs," Treasurer Artie Fadden said. "This would lead Australia to having to borrow back to meet its own sterling commitments for the money sent to Britain as a gift."

He said that an amount equivalent to $3,600,000 has been sent to Britain already in gifts and added that he hoped that current collections would be diverted to buying arms for Australia. The Hood fund, started in western Australia to replace the battle cruiser sunk by the German battleship Bismarck, was one of those banned.

Collection of war relief funds has not been restricted.

All Roosevelt Sons Soon Will Be in Uniform

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6. — The last of President Roosevelt's four tall sons, John Roosevelt, will report for active duty at a desk in the navy supply bureau this month.

John chose the navy supply corps, according to his mother, because he "feels strongly against killing," but wanted to do his bit in the armed forces in some way because he believed that a world with Hitler victorious "is not the kind of world he would like to live in."

Commissioned as Ensign.

John was given a commission as an ensign in the navy last March. Mrs. Roosevelt said that his eyes are not very good, bad enough so that he would not be drafted. The navy department, in response to an inquiry, said he had been shown no special favoritism on his physical examination.

Young men who feel strongly against killing have two choices under the draft. They can go into the medical corps or other noncombative units or go to camps for conscientious objectors.

The President's third son, Franklin Jr., also is an ensign in the navy, but has no scruples against killing. He is now on active duty aboard the destroyer Mayrant, which is attached to the Atlantic patrol. It has been stationed at Boston, Mass., for weeks.

Elliott in Newfoundland.

Elliott, the President's second son, was stationed at the base the army is building on British soil at Newfoundland, but at present is engaged in a mysterious mission in Ottawa, Ont. Elliott's commission as a captain in the air corps reserve became a campaign issue. At that time Mrs. Roosevelt said Elliott was commissioned when other sons were being drafted because he had weak eyes and would not have had to serve if he did not wish to.

The President's eldest son, James, is a captain in the marine corps reserve, on active duty. He is reported to be returning to this country by way of Britain from a few weeks' tour of duty as an observer with the British forces in Egypt. He carried letters from his father to the king of Greece and the king of Egypt.

EAT LESS CHEESE AND AID BRITAIN, WICKARD URGES

Washington, D. C., June 6 [Special].—America can rally to the aid of Great Britain by eating less cheese, Secretary of Agriculture Claude Wickard suggested today. He issued an appeal to all citizens to cut down on cheese consumption and thus assist the United States government in "feeding all nations resisting aggression."

"In this time of crisis," Wickard explained, "many citizens have asked me: 'How can we contribute to the defense effort? Isn't there something we can do?'

"Reducing the consumption of cheese, to make more of this food available to the British," he said, "is a real contribution the average citizen can make and one which I am sure he will be glad to make."

Pacific Strike Irks Officials in Washington

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS.

A high government official in Washington, D. C., last night confirmed reports that the government would take over the strike bound North American Aviation company, Inglewood, Cal., by Presidential proclamation on Monday if striking employés do not return to work.

This government official, who declined to be quoted by name, said that the war and navy departments and the Office of Production Management had insisted that some definite action be taken in the North American strike which has tied up $196,000,000 worth of orders for American and British warplanes.

Earlier, the Office of Production Management had condemned three west coast strikes, including the North American Aviation tieup, for seriously retarding armament production. At the same time President Roosevelt indicated that he was prepared to appeal to the rank and file of labor over the heads of labor leaders who have blocked mediation efforts.

Would Have Military Rule.

The informant said that if in the interest of production the plant had to be taken over under the President's unlimited emergency proclamation, an officer of the army or navy would be placed in charge to carry on production.

Asked how the government would get the striking North American employés back to work under government management, the official said:

"The government will request the workers to go back or else ——. The government has means with which to do that." He added that in his opinion it would be "too bad" to continue the strike if it became a strike against the government.

The informant said that in his opinion the "patience of the President had been taxed and broken" by the strike at the North American plant in the midst of efforts by the defense mediation board to work out terms for the settlement of the controversy.

Won't Discuss Authority.

He declined to discuss the specific statutory authority under which the plant may be taken over and operated under government management. He said he expected that if the plant were taken over the controversy over wages would be settled by a survey of wage and working conditions to determine the status of the union's claims for higher pay rates.

Twice before, he said, the government was about to take over strike bound industrial plants but refrained from doing so to try additional methods for a settlement. He refused to name the previous two instances.

If the government took over the operation of the plant, he added, it would place one of its own agents in charge of labor relations.

Hillman Issues Statement.

The other strikes condemned by the OPM were in the shipyards in the San Francisco bay area and those of lumber men in the Puget sound area of Washington.

Sidney Hillman, associate director of the OPM, made public the text of a resolution adopted by the labor policy advisory committee. The group is composed of representatives of the CIO, the AFL, and the Railway Labor Executives' association, and has 16 members. Hillman's aids said that a majority of the committee signed

U. S. MUST END LABOR'S SPECIAL PRIVILEGES, SAYS THURMAN ARNOLD

San Francisco, Cal., June 6 (AP).—Thurman Arnold, assistant attorney general, told the Commonwealth club today the United States "needs legislation to put labor unions back where we thought they were."

"I don't believe this country can stand for special privileges for any group," he added.

Arnold said the courts had given his office setbacks that needed clarification of rights of labor and the public.

He declared business was chafing under restraints and delays but didn't "dare be vocal." Some large firms, he added, had gone to making deals with "middlemen of labor," especially those in the transport and installation unions "and the cost, if uncurbed, will be colossal."

BYRNES ADMITS SEIZURE PLAN COULDN'T PASS

Turn to Other Ways to Curb Strikes.

BY CHESLY MANLY.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6.—With congress in a ferment over strikes and threatening drastic legislative remedies, administration leaders decided today that labor violence cannot be made the pretext for the seizure of totalitarian powers.

Senator Byrnes [top] and Representative Starnes. [Acme Photos.]

The congressional leaders prepared to shelve the Roosevelt administration's revolutionary property seizure bill, ostensibly intended to break strikes, and to substitute a relatively modest proposal of their own.

Byrnes Ready with Substitute.

Senator James F. Byrnes [D., S. C.], the senate's recognized White House spokesman, agreed in conferences with other senators that the administration's dictatorial property seizure bill cannot be passed. He agreed also to scrap it and substitute a brief amendment to the conscription act of 1940.

The new dictatorship bill would authorize the President to commandeer property of any kind or character, real or personal, tangible or intangible, for any purpose. The Byrnes amendment to the conscription act would authorize the government to take over and operate plants whose owners could not fulfill government orders on time because of strikes. If the owners were not at fault, however, they would retain the profits as compensation for the use of their plants.

The conscription act already authorizes the seizure of plants whose owners refuse to accept or give precedence to government orders at prices fixed by the government.

Adjourn House to Avert Vote.

Leaders of the house adjourned that body until Monday to prevent a vote on an anti-strike amendment to the 10 billion dollar war department appropriation bill. The temper of the house, as indicated by tumultuous debate, was such that the anti-strike amendment might have been passed had it come to a vote.

Representative Joseph Starnes [D., Ala.], author of the anti-strike amendment, told the house:

"It is folly for the President to ask additional authority [the dictatorship bill] unless he intends to meet this challenge of radical labor. The time has come to cease pious expression and act. It is time we made an expression of our opposition to that type of leadership.

"No one is going to take from labor its basic rights. But we are asking labor to get rid of the communists and other subversive influences."

Would Bar Pay to Strikers.

Starnes' amendment provides that no part of the 10 billion dollar appropriation shall be used to pay any person who, while employed directly or indirectly in the production of war equipment, shall "stop work for a period in excess of 10 days by reason of being a voluntary participant in any strike."

Representative Howard W. Smith [D., Va.] told the house he would offer an amendment providing that labor union contracts binding upon employers shall also be binding upon the unions, and providing further that any union violating a contract shall be barred from government work.

Meanwhile Senator Styles Bridges [R., N. H.] proposed that strikes be prohibited by law until a majority of the men have voted to strike by secret ballot in a government supervised election. He suggested also that workers who strike illegally be deprived of their rights under the national labor relations act.

Previous Proposals Rejected.

The Roosevelt administration thus far has resisted all legislation intended to curb strikes in preparedness

U. S. STUDIES WAY TO SEND FOREIGN SHIPS TO BRITAIN

Acts After Seizures Are Ordered by Roosevelt.

BY WALTER TROHAN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6.—Government experts tonight were studying means of speeding up shipment of American munitions and supplies to Britain after President Roosevelt signed the ship seizure bill and issued an order authorizing the maritime commission to requisition all immobilized foreign merchantmen in this country.

One of the plans under consideration, it was authoritatively learned, is to have the government itself operate the seized foreign ships and those being requisitioned from American shipping lines under the President's drive to create a two million ton shipping pool to aid Britain.

War Zone Entry Possible.

Government operation of the vessels would permit the administration to send ships wherever desired in any war zone. The neutrality law applies only to privately owned ships.

Some New Dealers are urging that the administration take advantage of the escape provided by the language of the act and send American merchantmen to Britain with needed war materials with the United States government as the ship operating corporation.

Another scheme under consideration applies only to the 84 seized merchantmen. It would be possible, under a plan advanced by maritime commission officials, to operate these ships under their own flags and with their own crews—except for the German and Italian vessels—under the guard of American seamen.

May Fly Foreign Flags.

These vessels could be operated to replace British vessels in noncombatant areas for duty in the war zone, or it is possible that the vessels might be employed directly in shipping between the United States and Britain. Such vessels might be permitted to operate under the flags of Denmark, Greece, or other conquered nations, because this country has refused to recognize these conquests.

A third plan, which is regarded as the most simple, is to lend both the seized and requisitioned ships to Britain as she needs them. However, Britain's chief need is for arms and supplies rather than ships. The ships are only a means to an end. She would prefer the ships to be manned and operated by American crews.

30 Axis Ships Included.

The seized foreign ships, involved in the act Mr. Roosevelt signed today, were taken into "protective custody" several weeks ago. Among them are 28 Italian vessels, 2 German ships, and 39 Danish merchantmen. The remainder of the idle ships are French, Norwegian, and Danish or fly the flags of Baltic or Mediterranean nations.

In his executive order authorizing the maritime commission to take over foreign ships, Mr. Roosevelt empowered the commission "to purchase, requisition, charter, requisition the use of, or take over the title to, or the possession of" any of the foreign merchantmen.

BRITISH TO KILL 300,000 CATTLE; FEED IS LACKING

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 6.—Three hundred thousand head of beef and dairy cattle in Britain must be slaughtered within the next few weeks because of a shortage of feeding stuffs, Minister of Agriculture R. S. Hudson announced tonight. Practically no feeding stuffs will be imported, he said, and there will be fewer byproducts for feeding stock from home milled wheat. About 170,000 of the animals to be killed will be dairy cattle, it is estimated. The figure represents 5 per cent of Britain's existing milking herds.

Further slaughter of pigs and poultry also is expected. Plowing of grassland likewise is resulting in a decrease in the number of sheep.

[TRIBUNE Photo.]
MRS. RUTH HUPAC.

Joseph Hupac and his wife, Ruth, were happily married, she told Judge Rudolph Desort yesterday, until he took to being caretaker for three Persian cats given them by friends. "He wouldn't let me stroke them or feed or wash them," she said, under questioning of her attorney, Harry X. Cole.

"Once, when I let them out of their box, he struck me and knocked me out." This was on last March 21, when she decided to seek a divorce.

Judge Desort granted her petition, awarding her $10 a week for support of a daughter, Anne, 4 years old.

SEIZE A BURGLAR IN FLAT; FIND HE IS THE MILKMAN

As Morris Katz, 55 years old, a plumber, started to enter his apartment at 50 North Long avenue last night two men dashed out of the apartment, knocking him down. Katz was accompanied by his wife Minnie and his son, Arthur, 28, a plumbing contractor who lives with him.

The son chased the burglars down a hallway, where one escaped. The other was subdued after he had received two black eyes. As the younger Katz sat on the burglar his father exclaimed, "It's the milkman!"

The burglar was Ben Berman, an employé of the Capitol Dairy company, 3942 Ferdinand street. Berman, who is 38 years old and lives at 3562 Monroe street, had delivered milk to the Katz family for five years. He carried a black mask in his pocket. As Austin police sought Berman's companion, Lieut. William Butler said the capture may clear up a recent series of west side burglaries.

The Katz family manages the apartment building, and Morris Katz told police about $200 in rent collections was missing.

U. S. MINELAYER GOES DOWN WAYS AT PHILADELPHIA

Philadelphia, Pa., June 6 (AP).—American democracy will survive because "we can and will out-produce Hitler," Assistant Secretary of the Navy Ralph A. Bard declared today at the launching of the 6,000 ton minelayer Terror, first vessel of its kind to be built for the nation's new two ocean navy.

Production of American warships "is our answer to Mr. Hitler," Bard told a throng of cheering workers and guests at the Philadelphia navy yard.

This area's second important naval launching in two days will be held tomorrow when the 35,000 ton battleship South Dakota will slide down the ways at the Camden yards of the New York Shipbuilding company.

Mrs. Bard christened the streamlined Terror which navy officials believe will be ready for service by next September, a full year ahead of its scheduled completion date.

F. D. R. CHARGES PEACE RUMORS ARE NAZI PLOT

Accuses Some Americans of Being Dupes.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6.—President Roosevelt said today that John G. Winant, American ambassador to the Court of St. James's, had brought him no information that Great Britain is in a desperate plight and seeking peace.

The President accused the German government of inspiring what he called "American appeasers" and certain newspapers to circulate such reports in connection with Winant's return to this country to confer with the President. He said he possesses proof of this charge.

"There was not even the 10th cousin of a peace offer or anything like that or any discussion of peace," exclaimed the President with great heat at his press conference. "Absolutely nothing like it."

It's an "Accusation."

Asked if he could be quoted directly to this effect, Mr. Roosevelt replied:

"Yes, provided you use this not as a denial by the President, but as an accusation by the President."

Mr. Roosevelt said he had on his desk copies of two orders issued by the official German propaganda agency to Nazis and Fascists in this country and to "American appeasers." One, he said, depicted the dissemination of propaganda that Hitler has no designs upon the United States. The other directed that as soon as Winant should arrive in the United States the story be spread that he was bringing information that Britain is near exhaustion and ready to make peace.

It was an amazing coincidence, the President went on, that certain types of American newspapers have published such stories recently. He mentioned only one newspaper by name—the New York Times, which today published an interview which the former American ambassador to Belgium, John Cudahy, had with Hitler. In it the Fuehrer branded as fantastic the notion that he ever would attack the United States.

Editorial Pleases Him.

Mr. Roosevelt said he was gratified to note that in the same issue of the paper the Times had published an editorial declaring Hitler's protestations unworthy of belief.

The President ignored the information which Secretary of State Hull gave to the press last Wednesday. Hull said that Winant brought a grave report of the danger the United States faces as a result of the developments in the war.

London Is Delighted.

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—President Roosevelt's press conference declaration today linking talk of peace offers to German propaganda was received with unconcealed delight tonight in London.

BRITAIN NAMES A DIRECTOR OF ITS MAN POWER

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 6.—The British government tonight created another new job—director general of man power—and named G. H. Ince, undersecretary of the ministry of labor, to fill it. Ince was responsible for drawing up the scheme of military registration by age groups. He is 49 years old.

Ince is expected to serve as a liaison agent between Ernest Bevin, minister of labor, and the fighting services so that skilled labor can be removed from the army or other jobs and transferred where it is most needed.

NEW ROOSEVELT DICTATOR BILL TO BE SCRAPPED

Senator Byrnes Admits It Couldn't Pass.

industries except the dictatorial property seizure bill, which authorizes the President to commandeer property of any kind or character, personal or real, tangible or intangible.

The house naval affairs committee last April 21 reported a bill introduced by its chairman, Representative Carl Vinson [D., Ga.], requiring a 30 day "cooling off" period before strikes could occur. The bill also was reported by the house rules committee, but administration opposition has kept it from the house floor.

Two Warn of Disaster.

Senator Harry F. Byrd [D., Va.] and Representative W. R. Poage [D., Tex.] warned today that President Roosevelt's toleration of strikes in armaments industries is leading the United States down the same road to disaster which France took.

Senator Byrd renewed his proposal of compulsory arbitration legislation, but demanded that President Roosevelt act first.

"In my judgment the President can stop strikes if he would speak in strong and unequivocal language to the effect that no further interruptions will be tolerated in our defense program," the senator said. "What we need to do is to take the same firm and decisive action as that taken by Woodrow Wilson in the strikes during the world war and that taken by Grover Cleveland."

Senator Byrd deplored President Roosevelt's failure to condemn strikes in strong language when he made his radio address to the world on May 27.

Finds Situation Worse.

"And now, 12 days after this speech was made, the strike situation is worse than it has been at any time during the period of defense strikes," Senator Byrd added. "I am advised by the war and navy departments that 67 strikes are now in existence in war and navy contracts, and, in addition, the war department reports 19 threatened strikes, some of vital importance.

"Unless this country gets down to work and makes available the mechanized equipment essential for our own protection and for aid to England, we are on the same road that carried France to disaster. This war is not so much a war of men as it is a war of great planes, tanks, ships, and mechanized equipment.

"Under the unlimited emergency proclaimed by him, the President has the power to set aside in defense production the 40-hour week. He should do this at once, and he should stop the strikes."

Senator Byrd renewed his demand that Mr. Roosevelt get rid of Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins and replace her with "a two-fisted man with courage, capacity, and patriotism."

REV. O'BRIEN ASSAILS TOTALITARIANISM AS DOCTRINE OF FALSITY

Green Bay, Wis., June 6 [Special].—"The dignity of man is under attack in the totalitarian countries of the world today primarily because God has been obscured," said the Rev. Dr. John A. O'Brien, University of Notre Dame professor, in an address at St. Norbert college's 43d commencement exercises in De Pre today. He spoke on "The Challenge of the Day."

The Most Rev. Paul P. Rhode, bishop of the Green Bay diocese, conferred degrees on 46 seniors.

Dr. O'Brien declared that in regarding man as a mere cog in the vast machine of the state, the totalitarian governments, Nazi, Fascist, communist, are ruthlessly logical, if man is not endowed with rights by God himself.

"The truth of the matter is, however, that man has been endowed by God with inalienable rights which constitute the foundation of the dignity of man and the sanctity of the human personality," he continued. "The heresy of totalitarianism consists in usurping the place of God in posing as the supreme lord and master of man. Thus the will of Stalin, of Hitler, and of Mussolini is made the source of man's rights and the fountainhead of his duties."

WILLKIE WANTS U. S. TO SET UP ICELAND BASES

Urges Convoys in Rally at Chicago Stadium.

BY WILLIAM SHINNICK.

In a departure from a prepared speech made last night in the Chicago Stadium, Wendell L. Willkie advocated an immediate use of United States forces to establish bases in Iceland "and other places to protect our liberties."

Willkie made a further unreserved plea for the convoying of war supplies, asserting that the fate of England is in the balance and she can not survive or maintain her war effort without a constant inflow of armament, equipment and food. He added that 10 per cent of all American shipments was being sunk before it reached the British isles.

Ballyhoo for Meeting.

The rally was sponsored by the All Chicago Citizens committee on America's Crisis, of which Clifford W. Barnes is chairman. Barnes presided at the meeting.

The affair had been advertised and promoted with the aid of airplanes flying over the loop and by the addition of famous movie stars to the program in an effort of interventionist groups to breach the anti-war citadel of Chicago and the middle west.

Mayor Kelly had issued a "Unity day" proclamation and ordered special patriotic exercises in the schools.

Fearful that there would not be a full house, the Democratic county central committee, from headquarters in the Morrison hotel, late in the day sent orders to precinct captains in convenient wards to "be there." Some were told to bring five guests and others to appear with their own families. By the time Willkie began to speak the whole house, with the exception of a hundred or so chairs on the last gallery, was filled.

Protesting Women Squelched.

The audience applauded a complimentary reference Willkie made to President Roosevelt. The meeting was interrupted by a demonstration by women in the northeast balcony when Willkie began to speak, but this was quickly squelched when 25 policemen advanced on the party and seized five women, who said they were acting as individuals opposed to war mongering. The women were held in the Stadium office until the end of the meeting and then released.

Mr. Willkie said:

"Now I say to you deliberately and earnestly—unless losses of shipments to England are stopped or greatly reduced—and at once—England cannot survive! And there is only one way that job can be done—America must insure the safe delivery of at least her own production to England. Fortunately, with the strongest navy in the world and with an increasingly strong air force, America has the ability to do that. If America insures delivery, we have well founded assurance that England will survive and England will win.

"I cannot tell you the point at which we may become involved in war. Neither can any other American. All we can know is that if and when Hitler thinks it is to his advantage, he will make war upon us. But if he does, he has at last lost his cunning, for he will thus combine the British and the American navies, and the British and the American air forces. The result will be an immediate and complete cleanup of the Atlantic. He will then know what a blockade really means."

Asks for Political Holiday.

Willkie declared himself as bitterly opposed to either Republicans or New Dealers using the defense program and the controversies about intervention for political purposes. He continued:

"We must gear ourselves for a united and complete effort in government, in industry, in labor, and in agriculture. We must wipe out political blacklists. The fittest men to administer the defense, irrespective of their political affiliations or economic beliefs, must be brought to Washington. A master priority plan should at once be formulated. Our industrial capacity must be allocated, among our military, naval, aeronautical, lease-lend and civilian needs so that one effort supplements another in proper order.

"The hope to do this cannot be accomplished thru arbitrary power with partial authority scattered among a multitude of competitive burocrats and it must be accomplished thru a coördinated centralized authority under the direction of one man responsible to the President, an authority which deals not in political theories and social objectives, but in a single aim—the building of our defense, and, as the first step toward it, the providing of Britain's requirements."

Willkie declared that he was not a war monger. He asserted that his support of all aid to Britain was known even before he was nominated for the Presidency. He added that his ideas of effective aid had changed; that for months he believed production alone would accomplish the end. Recently, he said he had become convinced that guarantee of delivery was necessary.

50 Women Picket Hall.

The crowd gathered slowly for the meeting. Fifty women of the American Peace Mobilization paraded with banners at the Madison street side of the building. Some of the banners were: "Neither Hitler nor Halifax," and "Not all the Willkie speeches nor all the Kelly men can put the war mongers together again."

Dean William F. Clarke of the De Paul university law school opened the program with a short speech, introducing the movie actors.

Don Ameche was the first, and referred to himself as an American and a former Chicagoan. Judy Garland sang. She got round after round of applause. Dennis Morgan sang and Linda Darnell's charm was displayed in a short speech.

One speaker was Carl Sandburg, poet and biographer of Lincoln. There were many boos when he spoke humorously of Col. Lindbergh as a flyer who had ceased to fly and had "ice in his veins." There were a few cheers also for Lindbergh. These were virtually drowned out by shouts.

Mayor Kelly spoke in praise of the President and of Willkie, whom he invited to come back to Chicago again.

Busy Day in Chicago.

Willkie arrived at Chicago airport in the morning and was greeted by a delegation of about 25 members of the All Chicago Citizens' committee headed by Col. A. A. Sprague.

With a motorcycle escort Willkie was driven to the city hall.

Leaving the mayor's office, Willkie went to the Hotel Sherman. At the entrance he encountered a group of women belonging to We, the Mothers, Mobilize for America. They carried banners, one of them reading, "Willkie, Stooge of F. D. R." Willkie took this and a few boos calmly, saying he "loved it."

In a brief address to the Executives' club Willkie said there could be no compromise with the Nazis and he hoped none of the business men of America could be so shortsighted as to believe in appeasement.

TROOP TRAINING SLOWING DOWN; WEAPONS SCARCE

Unit Commanders Want Public to Know It.

BY CAPT. M. M. CORPENING.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Manchester, Tenn., June 6.—The shortage of weapons and equipment which is widespread among the troops engaged in tactical exercises of the second army here, and those in nearby Camp Forrest, where the 33d division [Illinois] is in training, was forcefully brought out today by the condition of Company M, 48th quartermaster regiment. This organization is engaged in "housekeeping" duties during the maneuvers.

Capt. Philip Sheridan, in command of the company, said the organization virtually was unable to perform its duties because of lack of equipment annd the inexperience of his men. The unit is composed of colored troops. Ninety-four of the 99 men in his company never had a day of training prior to April 10.

Tables of organization specify that the company should have 51 one and one-half ton trucks. He had 11, but 10 of these he has had to turn over to the 43d engineers because that regiment was even worse off for transportation than the quartermaster regiment. The 43d also is on housekeeping duties, mainly in road maintenance.

Despite all this, the captain, reported, the morale in his company is high. Most of the men prefer soldiering to picking cotton. Altho they were not well nourished when they were inducted in April and marching was an ordeal and many stragglers were forced to fall out between rest periods, the army food has increased their strength any they now perform their duties satisfactorily and cheerfully.

Most unit commanders here are greatly concerned by the shortages in their organizations. A colonel of one of the regiments expressed his feelings today, in this manner:

"The American public expects an efficient fighting force. This is impossible if proper equipment for training is not available. In combat the shortages would be fatal. If the public is kept informed of these deficiencies it will demand that the situation be rectified. My regiment is lacking in equipment and is short of trained men. I want the public to know it."

Trainees Are Learning.

However, not all the news of the trainees is discouraging, for Maj. Gen. Frederic Smith, commander of the 7th corps, which is engaged in the exercises, said both men and officers are learning and that progress was being made.

The 30th division [Tennessee, Georgia, Carolinas], is showing considerable proficiency in camouflage. Trucks and artillery are not permitted to stop in the open and positions have been well concealed.

The exercises today placed the units of the 7th corps in retreat. In addition to the 30th division, the 27th [New York] and the 5th triangular [regulars] form the corps. Troops found that the tactics of retreat were more difficult than those of attack, which was the problem of the previous exercise.

Follow Bragg's Strategy.

An interesting feature of the war maneuvers is that the troops are closely following the strategy of Gen. Braxton Bragg, when re retarded the Union army's advance during the civil war. Breastworks erected by Bragg's army still can be traced.

Tomorrow the troops will rest while a command problem is worked out and Sunday they will be given off.

New York, June 6 [Special].—After getting a marriage license today, Noel Carter, 22 years old, dancer, and Orchestra Leader Gray Gordon, 34, announced they were planning to wed on Monday. It will be the first marriage for Miss Carter, who gave her name to the clerk at Municipal building as Noel Ditsler. Gordon was divorced in Detroit in 1937.

HITS WILLKIE'S ABOUT FACE ON WAR QUESTION

Wendell L. Willkie is an insincere orator attempting, by the use of "ambiguous, sweet words," to send the young men of this country to possible death in faraway Africa in a fight for some one else's empire. This accusation was made last night by Walter F. Boye, Chicago attorney, who addressed the Indiana Harbor-East Chicago chapter of the America First committee at a meeting in West Chicago.

Boye charged that Willkie's reputation for insincerity and opportunism became firmly established when the former Presidential candidate, who in his campaign speeches promised repeatedly that he would never send an American boy into the present war, did an about face and became one of the country's leading interventionists.

"During his campaign Willkie said that if his opponent were elected we would be in the war by this April," Boye said. "After the campaign he said he did not mean it; that this statement was only campaign oratory. There, by his own admission, he branded a profound statement of his own as unreliable.

"If Willkie was not sincere and was an opportunist when he made this statement, what reason have we to believe that he is sincere and not an opportunist now?"

Flames Cause $10,000 Loss to Paper Carton Company

A 4-11 alarm early today fought a blaze which destroyed the interior of the one story brick building at 2251-2253 North Knox avenue, occupied by Carton Finishers, Inc., makers of paper cartons and boxes. Commissioner Michael J. Corrigan placed the damage at $10,000. The origin of the fire was undetermined. The fire for a time threatened the adjoining Belden Millwork company, 2241 North Knox avenue, but it was not damaged.

27 YEAR LIMIT FOR DRAFT GETS SENATORS' O. K.

Change Is Approved by Committee, 5 to 3.

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—Legislation authorizing President Roosevelt to defer the induction into the armed forces of selective service registrants who have reached their 28th birthday was approved today by the senate military affairs commitee.

Scheduled for consideration in the senate next Tuesday, the measure would permit the President to narrow the service age limits so that only men from 21 thru 27 years old would be called up, instead of the present bracket of 21 thru 35.

Those Inducted Not Affected.

Sponsors said the measure would not affect men 28 years old or older who already have been inducted into the armed forces. Nor, they added, was it to be considered a permanent exemption for other men in this age bracket, since they would be liable for service anytime the President chose to order selections in their group.

By a 5 to 3 vote the committee adopted an amendment by Senator Chan Gurney [R., S. D.] altering the original version of the bill as submitted by the war department.

Army Asks Blanket Power.

The department had asked that the President be given authority to fix the age or ages at which he might order the deferment of registrants. The Gurney amendment limited this Presidential power to men over 27. Chairman Robert R. Reynolds [D., N. C.] said he and Senators Lister Hill [D., Ala.], the majority whip, and Harley M. Kilgore [D., W. Va.] had sought to obtain approval of the bill in its original form.

Brig. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, selective service head, told reporters that approximately 7,000,000 men now registered would be affected by the proposed change in age limits.

ANTI-PLANE UNIT RETURNS; DUTY IN PANAMA HINTED

Two thousand soldiers of the 61st coast artillery [anti-aircraft] regiment and attached units returned to Fort Sheridan yesterday after a hurried trip by motor convoy from the army war games near Camp Forrest, Tenn. Rumors are that the regiment, unexpectedly ordered back to Chicagoland 24 hours after it had arrived in Tennessee, is to be sent to the Panama canal zone.

Brig. Gen. John L. Homer, commandant of Fort Sheridan, said he understood the regiment was sent back to the fort to continue training. It is one of the army's best equipped anti-aircraft units.

The men and officers of the 61st traveled in 465 army vehicles ranging from ¼ ton weapon carriers to 19,000 pound prime movers which hauled the regiment's 3 inch gun batteries. Attached to the regiment were Company B of the 81st quartermaster regiment and the 23d ordnance company.

SEEK IDENTITY OF LAKE VICTIM.

Police last night sought to learn the identity of a man about 55 years old whose body was removed from the lake at Addison street. His hat was marked with the initials T. N. W. The man was 5 feet 8 inches tall and weighed about 175 pounds.

GIVE AIR BRANCH SEAT IN CABINET, CONGRESS URGED

Bill Is Introduced by Wisconsin Member.

BY WILLARD EDWARDS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Washington, D. C., June 6.—A vigorous plea for a department of aviation in the cabinet was delivered in the house today by Representative Harry Sauthoff [Prog., Wis.].

Harry Sauthoff.

"Germany is demonstrating today that the great British navy has lost its effectiveness," Sauthoff told his colleagues, "and while Germany practically has no navy, nevertheless her superiority in the air since this war began has made Great Britain call upon the United States for help.

"Wherever Germany and Great Britain have clashed, whether on the western coast of Europe, in the Scandinavian countries, in the battle of the Balkins, or in the battle of Crete, Germany's supremacy in the air has won the victory.

"To date, Great Britain has not won a single major military victory. These facts are indisputable and clearly point out one thing—the necessity for high powered, high armored and high geared air forces."

Urges Passage of Bill.

The Wisconsin congressman asked for passage of a bill introduced by him which would establish a department of national defense, to consolidate therein the war and navy departments and a department of aviation, the secretary of the aviation department to be given cabinet rank.

He noted that Britain is likely to lose the Mediterranean, not because Germany has a superior fleet but because it has a superior air force.

"No doubt Hitler's next move after Crete," he said, "will be on the Island of Cyprus."

Many in congress are puzzled, Sauthoff said, concerning the indifference of the administration to the necessity for a distinct air division and a place in the cabinet for its representative.

Given Subordinate Position.

"We are spending hundreds of millions of dollars on aviation," he remarked. "We are giving every possible aid and encouragement to air power and yet we relegate it to a subordinate position.

"A first class battleship takes four years to build, it can travel only about 30 to 35 knots, it is clumsy and unwieldy in its maneuverability, and one hit, properly located, can sink it, as in the case of the Hood. A torpedo dropped from an airship can render it helpless, as in the case of the Bismarck.

"On the other hand a modern airship can be built in eight to ten months, it can travel 300 or 400 miles an hour, it can be maneuvered in any direction with the speed of lightning, and it can be built at a cost of $500,000, while the battleship will cost 70 million dollars. One wonders why we don't build fewer battleships and more air bombers."

140 Bombers for One Ship.

One hundred and forty bombers can be built at the same cost as one first class battleship, Sauthoff noted, and in 25 per cent of the time.

"Why, then," he asked, "do we push the air force into the background and still cling to a system that is outmoded, outmaneuvered, outfought, and displaced by a swift-moving, death dealing power that nothing can stop except a superior force in the same element?"

Neither army nor navy will ever give the air force its proper place in modern warfare, Sauthoff asserted.

"Naturally," he said, "men who know nothing about flying, who know nothing about the construction or designing of aircraft, whose entire training and experience have been in a different field, are not going to wax enthusiastic about a subject concerning which they have no knowledge.

"In order to give our air force its proper place in modern warfare, it will be necessary then to free it from the shackles of the army and navy and give it a place of its own where it can develop and attain the proportions that it ought to, because in the end, when the time comes, this country will be depending upon its air force for its defense."

Hollywood, Cal., June 6 (AP).—Barbara Bennett of the Richard Bennett family is en route to Mexico to wed Addison [Jack] Randall, western film star, only three days after being freed from Morton Downey.

Downey, to whom Barbara was married 11 years and who failed in repeated attempts at a reconciliation, divorced Miss Bennett in Connecticut. He was awarded custody of their five children.

Barbara's sister, Constance, has been married four times; Sister Joan twice, and their father, Richard, twice.

Randall formerly was the husband of Louise Stanley, prominent socially in Springfield, Ill. Twice they were wed; twice divorced.

Bevins Sees Whole Weight of U .S. Put in War by '42

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—Labor Minister Ernest Bevin, speaking tonight at Wimbledon, declared that Adolf Hitler "has acknowledged he cannot bring Britain down before 1942 and that brings to the Germans the fact that by then the whole weight of the United States will be thrown into the struggle." He then added: "I do not believe Britain will ever be conquered by the Nazi dictator."

CHARGE PEPPER 'PUT HEAT ON' IN ASPHALT BUYING

Airport Work Waits While He Shouts for War.

Washington, D. C., June 6 [Special].—Senator Claude Pepper [D., Fla.] was described before a house military subcommittee today as having "put the heat" on a government official in connection with purchases of asphalt to pave runways at Eglin field, army air corps project in Florida.

Senator Pepper and map with arrow locating air corps project in which he was interested.

Work on the field was delayed for more than a month by efforts of the New Deal senator to deprive the lowest bidder of the asphalt contract in order that it would go to a company represented by the senator's former law firm.

The house committee is now seeking the full story back of the developments that held up a military project while the vociferous Florida senator has been clamoring for this country to enter the war and inveighing against all who disagree with him.

New Bids Demanded.

The account of "the heat" applied by Pepper was given in testimony of R. L. MacDougall, assistant WPA commissioner. He told of the senator calling for new asphalt bids on the project after deciding that Pan American Petroleum corporation, next to the low bidder, had been mistreated. Pan American is represented by Millard F. Caldwell, a member of Pepper's former law firm.

MacDougall said that Roy Schroder, then the Florida WPA administrator and now regional director at Atlanta, told him he had been subjected to "a lot of heat" by Pepper. The witness testified that he believed the Allied Materials, Inc., the low bidder, was entitled to the contract and instructed Schroder not to call for new bids.

The conversation took place, MacDougall said, while he was WPA regional director at Atlanta. When he became assistant commissioner here recently, Schroder succeeded him in the Atlanta job.

Senator "Quite Angry."

MacDougall said that on April 28 he and Schroder called on the senator here and found him "quite angry" over the situation. He said he told Pepper he was "off on the wrong track." The senator, he said, had heard only one side of the controversy, so he outlined the other side of the case to him.

Altho he insisted to the senator that the bids were in order and that Allied was entitled to the contract, he related, Pepper argued that specifications were written in such a way that Pan American could not bid intelligently.

Investigator J. J. McTigue questioned MacDougall closely as to whether Pepper had hinted that he might interfere with the promotions of either MacDougall or Schroder. Members of congress previously have asserted that Pepper threatened to have Schroder and two members of his staff fired unless they held up the shipment of Allied asphalt.

MacDougall declined to make such an assertion, but finally revealed that Pepper had asked him when his confirmation was to come up in the senate—"but in a friendly way and just to make conversation." He said he told the senator that an appointment as assistant commissioner did not require confirmation.

BRIDGES WITNESS ACCUSES REDS OF INTIMIDATING HIM

San Francisco, Cal., June 6 [Special].—Maurice [Blackie] Cannalonga, the long missing witness of the Harry Bridges deportation hearing, testified today he "disappeared" after his first appearance on the stand because he was being "watched and intimidated by the communist party."

Cannalonga testified as a government witness in April that he had seen Bridges, Australian born CIO director whom the government is seeking to deport, attend at least three communist meetings. In May defense attorneys presented a deposition which they said Cannalonga had given contradicting testimony and charging he had been intimidated by the FBI. Then Cannalonga "disappeared." He reappeared Wednesday as a government rebuttal witness. Today he said he spent "some time" in the Olympia mountains of Washington making CCC trails. He said he returned to stay out of trouble with draft authorities.

In response to defense questions on the motive for his flight, Cannalonga said: "I was being watched and intimidated by the communist party. The communist party had started a whispering campaign about me."

BI-PARTY SYSTEM HOPE OF WORLD, SAYS REP. MARTIN

Glens Falls, N. Y., June 6 (AP).—Representative Joseph W. Martin [R., Mass.], Republican national chairman, declared tonight that, while America must have political unity on national defense, the hope of the world rests in the biparty system.

"Unity we must have," he told a convention of New York Young Republican clubs. "We must build, and build quickly, a national defense adequate against any aggression.

"But unity does not mean blind submission to the dictates of any political burocracy. Unity means intelligent coöperation.

"If our American system of free government, the biparty system, the constitution, go down—even for a little time—the hope of the world is gone."

AIMS OF FRANCE NOT OPPOSED TO U.S., ENVOY SAYS

Denies Nazi Troops Are in Syria.

dominant topic of discussion in Vichy today following official French reaction to Secretary of State Cordell Hull's declaration against French cooperation with Germany.

It was assumed here that Hull's remarks implied the possibility that the Roosevelt government might decide to break off diplomatic relations with Vichy.

The objection of the secretary of state to France's plans to establish peaceful relations with Germany and collaborate in European reorganization drew this remark from a French official spokesman: "It is regrettable that Washington, D. C., seems to be so badly informed about European developments. What we want is to arrive at a condition of peace in the world as soon as possible."

French Draw an Inference.

The inference was that world politics is now pitted between those who want to keep the war going as long as possible as a matter of policy and those who do not.

French political circles said they were without information as to whether peace terms had been proposed to the British by Adolf Hitler and whether such action had been the cause of Ambassador John G. Winant's hasty trip to Washington from London.

The French, it seems, are appraising the possibility of Hitler offering peace to Britain and whether London is using this offer to tempt the United States into an open declaration of war as an alternative to acceptance.

The French information office, insisting that the United States was being misled and misinformed about Europe, issued this statement:

"It is astonishing to see the American secretary of state describe as a policy of aggression and oppression one which is directed against no one and damages the interest of no other power. Collaboration with Germany is only inspired by a wish to establish better relationships in Europe and to maintain the liberty of the French empire and its lines of communication against all attacks."

1,000 Evacuated Civilians Leave Gibraltar in Ship

LA LINEA, Spain, June 6 (AP).—The British transport Strathmore with more than 1,000 evacuated civilians aboard put out into the Atlantic tonight from Gibraltar, escorted by the aircraft carrier Argus and two destroyers. The vessel left Gibraltar yesterday but returned when German submarines were reported barring the route.

U. S. MARINE CORPS OFFICER AND AN ARMY COLONEL DROWNED

Sarasota, Fla., June 6 [Special].—A retired army officer and a retired marine corps officer, both with distinguished war records, lost their lives in the undertow of the Gulf of Mexico late today as their wives looked on, unable to help them.

The victims were Col. George E. Ball, 68 years old, retired infantry officer, and Lieut. Col. Nelson P. Vulte, 61, retired marine corps officer.

The officers, with their wives and three other women neighbors, had gone swimming. The men had ventured some distance from shore. Neighbors said an undertow swept all seven seaward, altho four of the women fought their way back. Meanwhile, Mrs. A. C. Eastman, a Sarasota resident, was being carried out by the undertow, but was rescued.

Col. Ball served in the Spanish-American war and with the A. E. F. during the world war, and also saw service in Alaska. He was a native of Marquette, Mich. Lieut. Col. Vulte, a native of New York, had served with the marine corps for 30 years.

TROOPS PLAY NEW WAR GAME OF 'INVASION'

Old Silver Beach, West Falmouth, Mass., June 6 [Special].—Troops using motor barges today simulated the maneuvers of an invading force landing on a hostile shore, and carried out on Cape Cod a series of ship to shore landings.

Actually, it was a part of what was described as routine training of a regiment of the United States army.

Ferried from a transport ship to the beach in the motor driven barges, the troops, carrying full field equipment—riflemen, machine gunners, signal men, and medical corps men—leaped overboard, splashed ashore behind their leaders, crossed the sands, and disappeared inland to consolidate a theoretical defensive position to hold the beach head against the simulated defending forces.

ARMY MAY USE REAL BULLETS IN WAR GAMES

Camp Hunter Liggett, Cal., June 6 (AP).—Army officers discussed today the possibility of using "a little live ammunition" in mock war to train soldiers to protect themselves. The use of a few real bullets along with the customary blanks would make war games a lot more realistic, they believe.

"In mock wars, troops are slipshod about the way they expose themselves," explained the officers, who declined the use of their names. "They commit blunders because they know they are not facing danger. If even one bullet in every 10,000 was real they would fight as tho engaged in real war. They would be cautious. Fighting would be realistic and of great value."

ACTRESS DISAPPEARS FROM S. S. MONTEREY IN THE SOUTH SEAS

San Francisco, Cal., June 6 (AP).—Disappearance at sea of Miss Yvonne Castle, 27 year old San Jose, Cal., actress, was reported by radio from the Matson liner Monterey today.

Dispatches said she last was seen strolling the deck Tuesday evening shortly after the ship had left Pago Pago, Samoa, en route to Tahiti.

ITALY'S BOMBERS BLAST GIBRALTAR BY DAY AND NIGHT

Raid Airports on Malta for Five Hours.

ROME, June 6 (AP).—A developing axis air offensive against Britain's three major naval bases in the Mediterranean—Alexandria, Malta, and Gibraltar—appeared well under way tonight.

Following up Germany's smashing attack upon Alexandria night before last Italian bombers last night and today attacked Gibraltar, Britain's great fortress at the western gateway to the Mediterranean and Malta, British base in the center of the sea.

Bomb Malta for Five Hours.

Italian flyers violently bombed Gibraltar in long flights made partly by day and partly by night with full loads from a base in Italy, the Rome radio said. At the same time other Italian planes in waves bombed Halfar and Micabba, airports on Malta, for five hours.

Alexandria and Gibraltar are considered Britain's main Mediterranean bases. Malta has been bombed so many times, the Italians say, that it is scarcely serviceable any longer, while Haifa, port in Palestine, and the eastern island of Cyprus are considered too small to shelter large fleets.

The German air corps has left Sicily after having been based there since January and aiding Italy in the Libyan and Balkan campaigns. These flyers apparently were taking part in the mass attack on Alexandria from nearer bases on newly won Crete and the Greek Pelobonnesus.

Destroy Italian Plane.

CAIRO, Egypt, June 6 (AP).—The destruction of an Italian warplane in a raid on the airdrome of Aleppo in northern Syria was claimed by the RAF middle east command today as the first evidence that Fascist aircraft had entered that French mandate.

The British had justified their three previous raids on Aleppo on the ground that German planes were using the Syrian base as a stepping stone to Iraq, but there had been no mention of Italian planes at Aleppo until today.

It was the 17th British raid on Syrian objectives.

French Cabinet Meets.

VICHY, France, June 6 (AP).—The French cabinet conferred today with three colonial experts on the defense of the empire. At the same time a government press statement declared the British were considering an attack on Syria altho this alleged plan had "not been completely approved" by the British command.

The British staff, said the memorandum, issued for the guidance of the French press, "is wondering if it has sufficient forces available to carry out this aggression."

"The situation seems quite confused," it was added, "but it remains that English propaganda would like to have it believed that German troops have arrived in Syria to justify—perhaps—British military action against that country."

Gen. Henri Dentz, the French commander in chief in the Levant [middle east], sent this message to his troops in Syria:

"The command is clear: Defend our possessions and defend them with our own forces. . . .

"There is nothing in this contrary to the interests of France. You have heard me. You have understood me. Now to your posts."

Gen. Dentz, in his message to the army, admitted that "foreign planes have landed in Syria in order to continue their flight"—this in apparent answer to British accusations that German warplanes are operating in that colony.

But, while he did not mention England by name, he denied British assertions that Syria is being turned over to the Germans, and added: "There are not, there never have been, German troops in Syria or Lebanon."

Report Nazis Build Air Base.

ANKARA, Turkey, June 6 (AP).—German air corps engineers are constructing a fighter plane base at Latakia, No. 3 Syrian port, only 62 miles from the tip of Cyprus, British island base in the eastern Mediterranean, foreign military attachés reported tonight.

WINDSORS PLAN VISIT TO ALBERTA RANCH IN AUGUST, SAYS PAPER

CALGARY, Alta., June 6 (AP).—The Calgary Herald said today the duke and duchess of Windsor are planning to visit the duke's ranch at Pekisko, possibly during the first week in August.

"It was learned on good authority today that the duke's secretary had communicated with a number of the board of trustees entrusted with the administration of the duke's ranch properties, concerning the cost of renovating the ranch house at the E. P. [Edward, Prince] ranch," the Herald said. "It was also reported that if the duke and duchess decide to holiday in Alberta, they would spend at least two months here in order to escape the hottiest season of the year at Nassau in the Bahamas"—where the duke is governor.

All Quebec Forests Closed to Public Because of Fires

QUEBEC, Que., June 6 (AP).—All forests in Quebec province have been closed to the general public because of forest fires, it was announced today by Henri Kieffer, provincial director of forest protection.

SUFFOCATION AND A STAMPEDE KILL 700 IN AIR RAID

CHUNGKING, China, June 6 (AP).—Seven hundred Chinese were killed by suffocation inside and by a stampede at the entrances to Chungking's biggest air raid dugout last night during a five hour Japanese aerial attack. Rescue squads still were bringing out the mangled bodies of whole families late today. It was the greatest blow yet in this oft-bombed capital.

When the first wave of bombers passed, thousands emerged from the vast underground structure. But the sound of motors heralding a fresh onslaught sent them rushing back to the shelter. Jamming at the entrances, they fought and clawed each other, and were crushed underfoot. Those who managed to fight their way inside the shelter soon choked to death when the piled-up bodies in the entrances cut off ventilation.

The Japanese for the first time this season dropped bombs on the south bank of the Yangtze river, across from the capital proper in what once was regarded as a safety zone. Several exploded near the United States embassy.

BRITISH LOSE 27TH SUBMARINE; HAD 58 AS WAR BEGAN

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—The loss of the submarine Undaunted, the 27th acknowledged to have gone down since the outbreak of the war, was announced by the admiralty tonight. Fifty-eight such vessels were in commission when hostilities began.

It was assumed here, altho not officially stated, that the Undaunted and the Usk, which recently was reported lost, both were new members of the 540 ton Unity class.

(The Undaunted is not listed in the newest registers of warships, indicating that it was a recently completed vessel. The Italian high command announced Friday that an Italian torpedo boat had destroyed a British submarine in the Mediterranean.)

HOW BISMARCK DEAD COVERED BATTLE SCENE!

Spanish Cruiser Called to Rescue by Nazis.

MADRID, June 6 (AP).—The 10,000 ton Spanish cruiser Canarias, answering a call to the aid of the crippled German battleship Bismarck after the Nazi raider had sunk the British dreadnaught Hood, sped thru heavy seas and arrived for rescue work on a battle scene literally covered with bodies of the sunken Bismarck's crew.

This dramatic epilogue to the new 35,000 ton German warship's last battle was disclosed today in a Spanish communique which said the Canarias retrieved a number of bodies from the sea and later buried them with full military honors in the Atlantic.

Twenty-odd hours before—or about the time British torpedo planes and pursuing warships were closing in upon the Bismarck for the kill—the Spanish cruiser received from an auxiliary of the Bismarck an urgent message asking for rescue work.

Fights High Seas.

The Canarias, riding at anchor in the Spanish harbor of El Ferrol about 400 miles away, put out immediately at full speed and fought high seas all the way.

"After hauling a number of bodies from the water, the commander of the Spanish cruiser messaged Berlin for instructions," the communique said.

"On receiving a reply, all the bodies were wrapped in swastika flags and buried with full military honors. Only dead crewmen were found during the rescue work." [The British rescued about 100 survivors of the Bismarck.]

British Sink Four Ships.

LONDON, June 6 (AP).—Three German supply ships and an armed trawler, presumably auxiliaries of the battleship Bismarck and other Atlantic raiders, were sunk by the British in the naval mopup that followed destruction of the Nazi man o'war, the admiralty announced today.

The Bismarck was believed to have a range of about 15,000 miles without refueling. With three supply ships, a couple of tankers and a munitions carrier, she could have ranged the seaways for a year without putting into port.

Lane, U. S. Envoy to Serbs, Leaves for Home on Clipper

LISBON, Portugal, June 6 (AP).—Arthur Bliss Lane, American minister to Jugo-Slavia, which is now under Axis occupation, left for the United States today on the Yankee Clipper, accompanied by Mrs. Lane. There were 18 other passengers.

VIRGINIA WOMAN GIVES $32,000 TO BUY PLANE FOR ROYAL AIR FORCE

MONTREAL, Canada, June 6 [Special].—A contribution of more than $32,000 has been made to the "Wings for Britain" fund by Mrs. Kelly Evans, of Malvern Hall, Hot Springs, Va., it was announced here today. She recently forwarded to the fund headquarters a check for 8,110 pounds, representing her entire balance in Barclay's bank, London.

The gift will enable Geat Britain to purchase a fully equipped Spitfire plane, armed with eight guns. At Mrs. Evans' request, the ship will be named "Virginia." The gift is the second from Virginia in recent weeks, the first having been made by a couple who asked that the plane be named "Jennifer" for their 1 year old daughter.

The "Wings For Britain" fund, central medium in North America for receiving funds for purchase of British fighting planes, has its offices at 215 St. James street West in Montreal.

TEACHERS EXPEL 3 EASTERN UNITS FOR COMMUNISM

Revocation of the charters of two New York and one Philadelphia locals of the American Federation of Teachers on charges of communism has been voted by members of the federation. This was announced in New York and Chicago yesterday by members of the executive council.

The council had charged that the three locals followed the communist party line in nearly all issues, and that many members withdrew from the federation during the last year because of such communism charges. The three locals represent nearly 7,000 members, or a quarter of the 28,000 dues-paying members. The vote was about 80 per cent for expulsion, excluding votes cast by the three locals in question.

John M. Fewkes, president of the Chicago Teachers' union, which voted 5,258 for revocation and 892 against, said: "I feel the American Federation of Teachers now has a real opportunity to grow rapidly since its Americanism no longer can be questioned."

CABINET CHANGES HINTED IN BRITAIN AS DEBATE NEARS

Churchill May Attempt to Soften Criticism.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 6.—The British government may attempt to soften criticism in parliament in the debate on Crete and the general war situation by making certain changes in the cabinet which may be announced tomorrow, it was learned tonight.

Leslie Hore-Belisha.

Indication of a shakeup in the ministry of information was contained in the report that Sir Walter Monckton, director general of the ministry, handed in his "provisional resignation," threatening to give up the job unless the ministry's status is improved. According to the Daily Herald, high officials of the ministry declare that, as now constituted, it is no more than a "general postoffice for Whitehall."

Complaint by Cooper.

Alfred Duff Cooper, minister for information, himself is said to have been frequently on the verge of resigning on the ground that the ministry is unable to give adequate service on the basis of its present powers.

Prime Minister Churchill probably faces the heaviest criticism since he became head of the government in the impending parliamentary debate on the Crete defeat. Indicating the tenor of this prospective criticism was a speech in Edinburgh today by Leslie Hore-Belisha, former secretary of war.

Each British reverse, Hore-Belisha declared, "has been glossed over by the same series of incompatible explanations, and the narcotic of false confidence in the future invariably is applied."

Urges Union with U. S.

Speaking at the Scottish Liberal National association's annual meeting, Hore-Belisha also urged an immediate union with the United States. "The most hopeful assurance of the democracies' determination to establish a new order would be recognition now of common citizenship by the British empire and the United States," he argued.

Of the military situation, Hore-Belisha said Britain "has suffered defeat after defeat, and always for the same reasons—lack of appreciation, lack of preparation, and imperfect execution of the project."

"Let it be realized," he declared, "that with each defeat we lost some of those resources on which for ultimate victory we rely—we did not delay or weaken the enemy; we strengthened him.

Says Production Falling.

"Don't let us tolerate that kind of soporific propaganda which has told us that 'whatever was the outcome of the battle of Crete it has undoubtedly justified itself.'"

On the home front, Hore-Belisha said that "the productivity of our factories and docks is falling at an alarming rate." Then, he asserted, "We must win this war and we will back any government that will go all out to win it. Let us realize, however, that you cannot win in 1941 at the 1914 pace."

FINGER SCRATCH KILLS WOMAN.

Mrs. Fave Minock, 55 years old, died yesterday in St. George hospital of an infection that developed after she scratched her finger in her home at 1447 East 68th street on May 20.

Dutch Reject Jap Trade Plan

In the Far East.

BATAVIA, Netherlands East Indies, June 6 (AP).—The government of the Dutch East Indies rejected today important sections in Japan's demands for a large share of the rubber, oil, and tin of these islands, but there was no sign of the subsequent crisis which the Japanese had intimated would come in the event of an unfavorable answer.

H. J. Van Mook [top] and Kenkichi Yoshizawa. [AP Wirephotos.]

While the terms of the Dutch reply were not disclosed, the chief Japanese negotiator, Kenkichi Yoshizawa, emerged from a 90 minute conference with Dutch Negotiator H. J. Van Mook to express disappointment and to predict it would not suit Tokio.

"It is my impression," said Yoshizawa, "that agreement will be very difficult."

Informed persons said the Dutch had in fact taken a middle course, attempting to maintain normal trade relations with Japan without furnishing to the Japanese so much rubber, tin, and the like as to make transshipment to Germany possible.

Too, it was added, the Dutch insisted that British and American needs take precedence in any case.

Rejection Is Strong, Say Japs.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

TOKIO, Japan, June 7 [Saturday].—The Dutch East Indies' rejection of Japanese trade demands was couched in strong words, leaving no room for compromise, Tokio learned this morning.

In Chicago.

The Dutch East Indies intend to remain at peace but will not give any nation special privileges or be frightened by threats in order to keep out of war. This position was stated yesterday by Eelco N. Van Kleffens, minister of foreign affairs of the Netherlands government in London, in an address before the Chicago Council on Foreign Relations in the Palmer House.

Eelco N. Van Kleffens.

"The Indies are freely administered by their local authorities," he said. "They are free from German domination and influence, and if Germany tries to give any directions on how to run the islands, these directions will not be accepted.

"Our basic policy in the Indies has been and will continue to be to refuse to allow any nation to get special privileges. Our natural resources are there—rubber, tin, oil. These are open to all on equal terms—with the single exception of Germany. No materials we produce are to reach Germany."

Regarding relations between Japan and the Indies, Van Kleffens said: "If everybody stays within the bounds of reason, there will be no clash."

Morale among the inhabitants of the Indies is high, Van Kleffens declared. Factories are being built, and the islands' defenses are being strengthened by military equipment from the United States.

New officers for the council were named. Richard Bentley is president, Mrs. George Corson Ellis is vice president, and Stephen Y. Hord is treasurer.

'HUMAN WELFARE' ADDED TO PEACE AIMS OF BRITAIN

Home Security Chief Tells Future's Needs.

BY LARRY RUE.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

LONDON, June 6.—Herbert Morrison, minister of home security, today added his slogan of "human welfare" to Britain's peace aims in an address before the Foreign Press association. He put his slogan beside Lord Halifax's "Prosperity justly shared," President Roosevelt's "Freedom from want," and Anthony Eden's "Social security, not only at home, but abroad."

He criticized the statesmanship after the last war as responsible for the "old war chaos" and suggested a world similar to the economic relationship proposed for Europe by Adolf Hitler, so that never again would "men starve because the world was producing too much food; shiver because it makes too many clothes."

Warns of Conflicts.

He warned that a "lack of clear thought and bold action would lead to conflicts of interest, even among friends and allies," and added:

"Many countries will be overindustrialized and the food stores of the new world will be full to the bursting point. Farmers will be searching for assured markets and every aircraft factory on the five continents will be clamoring to be allowed to make motor cars.

"If we approach this problem on the old basis of letting each nation's industry or agriculture stake out its claim, then fight the rest with political, as well as economic weapons, the answer will be a collision."

Rationing to Go On.

He also said: "We must direct the whole of our policy to achieving for every one in all countries a really high standard of health, diet, physical well being, and education." This could only be achieved by the fullest collaboration with America, he asserted.

For England, he said, the rationed way of life has come to stay. He declared that this and the new "science of nutrition have given the British people, even under severe pressure, a diet sufficient for life and good health." He described the government's 100,000,000 pound [$400,000,000] annual food subsidy as imposed on the nation to maintain the "accepted standard of national welfare" and said that it would not be thrown away "in days of plenty."

HANGAR THIEVES STRIP PLANES.

Thieves broke into the hangar of the Aero Club of Illinois, 8305 Cicero avenue, early yesterday and took $1,000 worth of instruments off three of the 15 private planes in the hangar.

AUSTRALIAN-JAP TRADE PACT IS UP TO BRITAIN

BY E. R. NODERER.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, June 6.—The decision on Japan's "request" for a larger share of Australia's exports rests with Britain, it was said in official circles here today.

Britain already owns the entire Australian wool crop which it has purchased for the duration of the war and one year thereafter at a guaranteed price of about 17 cents a pound. In return for this and other concessions Australia has become part of the imperial economic bloc, with control of its foreign trade resting with the mother country.

Altho Sir Earle Page, Australian commerce minister, said he had received no formal statement from Japan's commercial secretary, the Japanese legation at Canberra announced Tokio's sentiment for a reciprocal trade agreement with this country.

T. Ichikawa, the Japanese secretary, said that such an agreement envisaged bigger sales of wheat and wool to Japan, in return for which Australia would take more cotton goods and machinery.

Ichikawa also said that Japan wants to resume large scale purchases of Australian steel and scrap iron, sales of which have been stopped since the war began.

British Diplomat in Central America Is Called to U. S.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, June 6.—Leslie C. Hughes-Shallett, British chargé d'affaires here and commercial attaché to British legations in Central America, has been called to Washington, D. C., by the British embassy and left by plane today. Since his arrival here he has investigated all pro-Nazi merchants receiving American merchandise and has placed them on the British blacklist.

BUILD RAID SHELTERS FOR STATE WORKERS IN NEW SOUTH WALES

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

SYDNEY, Australia, June 6.—The government of New South Wales has embarked upon construction of air raid shelters for state employés.

The announcement was made by R. S. Heffron, minister for national emergency services, who said that private enterprises were expected to follow the state example without delay. Householders, called upon to provide shelters, will be given financial assistance by the government when necessary.

Heffron also set aside seven miles of a new unused sewer here for use as a public shelter. It is estimated that the sewer will shelter 30,000 persons. Ten entrances are to built immediately.

"I take a serious view of the situation," Heffron asserted. He added that training of the government staffs in air raid drills will begin next week.

AFL HEAD TAKES HAND IN CLERKS' UNION REBELLION

Revolt Against Czarlike Boss Gains Impetus.

The rank and file revolt against Max Caldwell, czarlike boss of local 1248 of the Retail Clerks' International Protective association, was given impetus last night by a telegram from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, announcing that his personal representative was en route to Chicago to aid in settling the trouble.

Rebellious union members, at a massmeeting in the Hamilton hotel voted, meanwhile, to file a suit demanding an accounting of union funds from Caldwell, possessor of a long police record, and named a working committee to represent them in their fight to oust their leaders, who, they say, were not regularly elected and who are charged with ruling by strong arm methods.

AFL Director to See Rebels.

In addition to the wire from Green, one was received from Frank Fenton, director of organization for the AFL and presumably Green's representative, stating that he and C. C. Coulter of Lafayette, Ind., international president, would be at the Hotel Sherman this morning to meet with the working committee.

Altho last night's massmeeting, called by the Hillman stores employés, was partially sabotaged by fake telegrams sent to each Hillman store, more than 600 clerks from the Hillman and other chain and independent stores attended.

The telegrams, signed with the misspelled name of Francis Heisler, attorney for the rebel group, warned of probable violence at the Hamilton and listed other false meeting places, to which many clerks presumably went. There was no violence at the Hamilton, where Sergt. George Barnes of the police labor detail was present with men of his command.

Hundreds More Join Revolt.

Among the principal developments in the revolt, which began Thursday when 600 Hillman clerks demanded the right to withdraw from the union and establish their own union, were:

1. All but about 100 of the 1,100 Hillman employés were reported as actively in the revolt. Some 400 new signers were included.
2. Police details were assigned to stores after it was alleged that goons were threatening the dissatisfied clerks' leaders.
3. It was disclosed that the state's attorney's police had forced Caldwell out of three other union setups since 1932 and had protested vigorously when he was granted a charter by the clerks' international.

Yearly Take Set at $300,000.

Capt. Daniel Gilbert of the prosecutor's police force said he wanted to question Caldwell to find out what became of the $2 a month dues collected from an estimated 12,000 members of six locals he bosses. It is believed that the total take of the czar and his associates, including initiation fees at $25 each, exceeds $300,000 a year.

It is one of the complaints of the rank and file that no financial reports are made and that they can see no benefits they get from the union. At the meeting last night the members voted for an initiation fee of $2 and dues of $1 a month.

Most AFL leaders welcome the present revolt and would be glad to see the clerks' union in good hands. The Chicago Federation of Labor ousted local 1248 a little more than a year ago after members of the Demonstraters' union [AFL], including several middle aged women, were slugged for working in stores organized by the Caldwell union.

Caldwell's Record Bared.

Caldwell's past record in union labor was made public by Capt. Gilbert and Lieut. Charles Egan. Gilbert said that Caldwell was a night club owner in prohibition days and became associated with the Waiters' union in 1932.

Sues for Divorce

(Story in adjoining column.)

Mrs. Mae Krenn charges realty dealer with cruelty.

In this capacity he was indicted for conspiracy to extort but was acquitted.

Later he tried to organize a union of hat check girls and night club hostesses but was so harried by the police, Gilbert said, that he had to desist. Another of his attempts was to compel the waiters at the World's Fair in 1934 to pay their dues for a year in advance. This was also frustrated.

SUES TO DIVORCE EDWIN KRENN, REALTY DEALER

Mrs. Mae Krenn of the Blackstone hotel, filed suit for divorce in Superior court yesterday against Edwin Krenn, real estate dealer. The suit charges cruelty, alleging that on last May 3, at a bridge party, he flung a deck of cards at her, and a week later pushed her against a radio set in their home. The Krenns were wed Dec. 22, 1934, at Richmond, Va. Krenn lives at 40 East Oak street. A temporary injunction restraining him from molesting his wife was granted by Judge Joseph Sabath.

DYING FROM A KNIFE WOUND, HE LAUGHS AT INTERROGATORS

Fairfield, Ill., June 6 (AP). — Told that he was fatally stabbed Floyd Cody, a 60 year old oil worker, laughed at officers when they asked him the name of his assailant, State's Attorney Francis Feiger said today.

"I want to be a man and die brave," Cody told a physician, refusing to talk to the officers. He died an hour later in a hospital at Olney.

Prosecutor Feiger said an investigation revealed that Cody was stabbed in the heart last night in a fight at a tourist camp a mile east of Fairfield and that J. D. Hardigree, also an oil worker, contended Cody attacked him. No charges have been filed against Hardigree and he has not been arrested, Feiger said.

Save Our Republic

JUST WHAT WAS TO BE EXPECTED.

The people of the TVA district are asked to cut down on their use of electric power and save it for the making of aluminum. There is so much deceit in governmental orders and actions that skepticism is everywhere justified, but Chairman Leland Olds of the federal power commission says that he cannot overemphasize "the gravity of the present power situation."

T. R. Tate of the same commission has said that the power emergency may be "perhaps the most serious in history." It is said not to be confined to the TVA district, where drouth has exposed the fallacies of the collectivist scheme in that region. The alarmists, with reason or without, say that the emergency will be felt everywhere in the country.

Mr. Henning of The Tribune Washington bureau reports that it is now conceded that the production program, so prodigious in its financial setup and so pygmy in its output, is at a critical stage. Responsible people are shifting the blame from shoulder to shoulder without unsnarling the tangle.

The private utility managements deny that the emergency exists. Steel makers and other industrialists say there is no plant deficiency. The New Dealers insist that there is and they hold the profit seeking motive responsible for the refusal of private enterprise to expand to meet national requirements. That would be an excuse for the seizure of private property and the entry of the government into production. Mr. Roosevelt's two terms of office were devoted to the demoralization of private enterprise. The purpose was to prove that it was an outmoded institution.

The collectivists wanted to demonstrate that the era of private capital had come to an end and they wanted to usher in the era of state socialism. TVA was a fully rounded out project in this direction. It was intended to supplant private utility companies with government owned companies. The industry was under the threat of the extension of the governmental system to all parts of the country. The private power companies were attacked everywhere, and any expansions they undertook were at a perilous risk.

The New Deal program of excessive taxation, punitive executive orders, and restrictive legislation discouraged nearly all investment and created stagnant pools of capital from which the government drew for its own wild spending. The electric power industry felt the danger more acutely than others because the Socialist plan affecting it was more mature than any other and was further on its way. If there is a power emergency now threatening armament production its roots are in the New Deal policies. The men who undertook to prove that private enterprise was a dying left-over from another age are responsible.

The Washington autocracy is not only a relentless one in its attitude towards private enterprise, it is also a stupid one. Private management has every reason to doubt the good faith of an administration which has been its open enemy for eight years and which now has the opportunity and the power to seize the productive plants of the country. If this autocratic but incompetent government can make a showing that armament production is disorganized because of the opposition of the industrialists, it may find an excuse for expropriation. That idea cannot be excluded from any view of the present situation.

Even if the good faith of the government could be trusted, which it cannot be, its incompetence would be a sufficient explanation for whatever breakdowns have occurred in the program. Our dictatorship has everything except talent. Its only genius is destructive. The defense of the United States couldn't be in worse hands than it is.

INTO WAR WILLKIE AND OUT OF WAR WILLKIE.

There are, for the purposes of this discussion, two Willkies. There is Into War Willkie, the parent, and Out of War Willkie, the son.

Into War Willkie accepted the Republican platform pledge to keep our army and navy out of the war. He was for aid to Britain but not for armed aid, or so he said. He attacked Mr. Roosevelt for pursuing policies which would get us into the war; but his vehement remarks along this line he later repudiated. They were just political oratory, delivered in the heat of a campaign and not to be taken too seriously, he subsequently confessed. Into War Willkie has occupied himself of late in traveling about Britain, Canada, and the United States, whooping up the crusade which only a few months ago he said we must not enter on any account. Now he has been made a director of an insurance company with important British connections.

A good many Americans can find little that is praiseworthy in this record of the parent. So far as Out of War Willkie, aged 21, is concerned, the case is wholly different. He is his own man. The fact that he has not enlisted is in no sense discreditable. He is under no obligation to conduct himself consistently with his father's expressed views and, indeed, it is impossible to do so in view of the contrary nature of those views. Young Willkie, the civilian, can well say that he is acting in full accord with the opinions which his father was expressing only a few months ago. It would be very unfair to the young man to expect him to volunteer for a war which is not popular with his generation and which has drawn only a few volunteers from among his college contemporaries.

The young men of America are not responsible for the war mongering which has been going on in this country. That is the work of fat old men, of Park avenue millionairesses, of Hollywood glamor girls, and writers of nasty plays.

THE GUNS ARE STILL "ON ORDER."

Last year, while President Roosevelt was telling the people about the tremendous armament "on hand or on order," the army held its maneuvers with stovepipe cannon and trucks labeled as tanks. Now, nearly a year later, the 7th corps maneuvers in Tennessee still find wooden signs substituted for machine guns and cannon.

Capt. Corpening of THE TRIBUNE'S staff found the troops engaged in the maneuvers deficient in almost every variety of equipment. The shortages ranged from 155 mm. corps artillery to clothing, which some of the soldiers have had to buy out of their own pay because none was available for issue.

Most organizations were deficient in trucks. One outfit had only a third as many vehicles as are assigned to it by its table of organization. A National Guard regiment that arrived with almost full equipment found itself speedily stripped to furnish less fortunate regiments. Men in active service for four months still had not been issued rifles. There was even a shortage of blank cartridges, smoke bombs being substituted for them.

This same situation is being disclosed in news dispatches from all over the country. Congressman J. Parnell Thomas visited one of the forts defending New York harbor and reported later in the house that 12 inch guns that constituted their armament had been dismounted and sent to bases in Newfoundland and Bermuda. He found an anti-aircraft battery lacking directors and detectors, without which it is virtually useless. One fort had only enough small arms ammunition to last one minute during an engagement. There were just 49 hand grenades in its arsenal.

At Topeka, Kas., Brig. Gen. R. C. Rodgers, commandant at Fort Riley, told a gathering of business men who had witnessed a parade of motorized troops that the spectacle was "one of the most pitiful things I have ever seen."

"Those trucks which paraded up your main street were as helpless as a fleet of vegetable trucks," he explained. "Each of them should have had three machine guns, an anti-aircraft gun, side arms, and rifles, but there was not a gun in the lot. The reason is that we simply haven't got them."

There is no lack of unity in this nation on the question of national defense. Every element in the nation except the communists and their inconsequential allies in the bund demands it and is willing to make any sacrifice to achieve it. Yet the national administration fails to attain this end, while bending all its efforts toward the foreign war that is desired only by a minority of our people.

It is horrible that people more interested in a foreign country than in their own would throw these unarmed Americans into the cauldron of war.

SEC WIRE WAS TAPPED.

The other day in the southern district of New York, a former attorney for the Securities and Exchange commission was found guilty of wire tapping, in violation of the federal communications act. Having had four years' experience with the commission, he had resigned and opened an office for the practice of law. At the commission's office, there was a telephone operator with whom he was well acquainted. He made an arrangement with her to listen in on official commission phone calls relating to an investigation involving his client. And when the conversation was sufficiently interesting she would phone the attorney and cut him in on the line by means of a telephone conference system. On at least one occasion the cost of the call was charged to the commission.

The attorney fought the charge, but was convicted. The telephone girl pleaded guilty. This little New York attorney is not the first ex-burocrat to build a practice on the basis of an "in" at his former hangout. Washington is filled with former government employés who offer themselves as experts in the business of the department in which they were formerly employed. There is nothing reprehensible about that if the separation of the employés from the government service has been complete, and what he offers professionally is expertness and not a "connection." The Gruber case suggests that some of the Washington agencies might well consider whether some steps should not be taken so that information or "favors" are equally available to all.

A QUESTIONABLE WATERWAYS DECISION.

[St. Louis Post-Dispatch.]

The Supreme court has denied the petition of the state of Illinois for an increased diversion of Great Lakes water thru the Chicago drainage canal, the Illinois, and the Mississippi rivers.

This is one of those decisions that may be sound in law but not in practice and, therefore, not sound at all. The prime reason for the diversion of Lake Michigan water was one of public health. When the flow of the Chicago river was reversed, the nation's second largest city was equipped with a very practical sewage disposal system. Years of experience proved it to be without harmful effect to communities along the Illinois-Mississippi waterway. On the contrary, the increased flow brought them cheap bargeline transportation.

Practical experience, as the result of a previous decision by the court, also demonstrated that a reduced flow meant a health menace for Chicago and many downstream cities—a menace that may never be completely eliminated by the construction of expensive sewage disposal plants.

Opposition to the diversion has been largely based on the doubtful assertion that it meant the lowering of the levels of the Great Lakes, and was, therefore, a menace to harbors along our inland seas and to a possible greater St. Lawrence waterway of the future. As a matter of record, during the peak of the Chicago diversion, no ship ever encountered any difficulty in the ports of Milwaukee, Duluth, or Buffalo attributable to it. Such changes as there have been in lake levels, according to experts, were not to be blamed on the Chicago diversion.

Be that as it may, should there not be more warrant for using a natural resource, like Great Lakes water, for public health purposes rather than for commerce?

The conflict, in this case, was not even as clear as that. Lakes commerce was not seriously affected, and Mississippi waterway commerce was substantially benefited. From the point of view of the greatest good for the largest number, the public health issue, plus these considerations, would seem to have indicated just the reverse of the decision reached by the court.

GOOD SONGS RINGING CLEAR.

Perhaps the best college life spectacle in this region is the interfraternity sing at the University of Chicago, scheduled for tonight. It has a perfect setting for open air singing, and its stage management is adroit. The songs form an interesting anthology of collegiate marches and anthems; many of them are rare period pieces.

Then raise the rosy goblet high—
The singer's chalice—and belie
The tongues that trouble and defile,
For we have yet a little while
To linger, you, and youth, and I,
In (add words to suit).

According to a songbook at hand, these verses were written in 1900 by a member of the Michigan chapter of our fraternity, yet we have heard a Dartmouth alumnus singing it as the anthem of his senior society in "tomb" assembled. It's probably in the public domain of college songs.

"Annie Lisle" is a ballad of some antiquity. You may hear its air tonight as a fraternity song, but it spreads all over the college map. It belongs to Cornell in "Far Above Cayuga's Waters"; to the University of Missouri, and perhaps a dozen other schools.

"Fair Harvard" goes to the air of Tom Moore's "Believe Me If All Those Endearing Young Charms"; Yale has a song to the music of "The Watch on the Rhine," and the University of Pennsylvania's band, when feeling sad in football defeat, blares out the national hymn of czarist Russia, music by Lvoff, whose English title is "God, the All-Terrible."

An old architect with an excellent memory tells us that the man who put the perfect acoustics into the Auditorium theater was not Louis Sullivan but Dankmar Adler, his senior partner. Adler was an expert on theater design and built a number of Chicago's old school playhouses. Audiences expected to hear what the actors said in that period and were likely to riot if they didn't, so Adler knew his stuff.

STRENGTH THRU JOY!

"Aviation crews sing as they work and up goes production."—News item.

Come on, you nimble fellers
A-whittling out propellers,
Come, sing and shout your lusty working song;
By your singing beat the axis
And help reduce our taxes;
Let harmony go ringing sweet and strong!

It would be hotzi-totzi
But not for any Nazi
To broadcast all your singing to Berlin.
I think they'd have a fit, sirs,
Those deluded men of Hitler's,
If they could hear the chorus that you're in!

Newcomer.

When Chicago Said "I Will," Not "So What?"

Pause a moment in your stride and pride, you young citizens. Is it nothing to you, all ye who pass by, that with the end of this month will come the end, except for the memories, of your city's golden glory for more than half a century—that Mecca of the music-loving world, the transcendent, triune temple, the Auditorium theater and hotel-office monument? Dedicated to that "I Will" spirit, which was the soul of its best citizenship in action, Chicago's young men saw visions and its old men dreamed dreams.

The old-timer may pause also and pay tribute to the founder of that great enterprise, Ferdinand W. Peck; to Architects Sullivan and Adler, who designed this gem of decorative art and the world's acoustic wonder; to Charles Holloway, painter of those masterpieces of mural art over proscenium arch and on side walls; to Abbey and Grau, those impresarios who presented on the vast stage such artists as Patti, Nordica, Melba, Tamagno, the De Reszke brothers, Calvé, Albani, Eames, Sembrich, and Plançon; to those great conductors, Nicolini, Thomas, Damrosch, Sousa, and Tomlins; also to Mrs. Potter Palmer of charity ball fame.

The curtain falls. Hail and farewell. Having written the dedication story Dec. 10, 1889, the wish is father to the thought that some memento of the Auditorium could be preserved in the form of those mural paintings, invoking that civic spirit which accomplished the permanent replica of the Columbian Exposition's fine arts palace.

A ROOKIE IN HEAVEN.

(In memory of Lou Gehrig.)

We'll miss you, Lou; tho rabid fans will shout
And beg some new-found star to smack one out
With bases loaded—count at three and two;
A hundred million strong, we'll think of you.
Until the final out you played the game,
And now—another league—but still the same.
You'll not be benched; the chance for that is slim—
God needed you to play first base for Him.

Just Another War Argument.

An imaginary clipping from a gossip column in the Celestial Gazette, the greatest newspaper in the universe:

"One of our elder statesmen, none other than St. Peter of Pearly Gates, is entertaining a distinguished visitor from that cock-eyed planet known as 'Earth.' One Wilhelm of Doorn has arrived to settle once and for all the question of who started the world war. A certain Lord Grey, whereabouts unknown, may be sought to present his views." Anonymous.

(Later bulletin: The report of Wilhelm's arrival was slightly exaggerated.)

Perhaps many choice relics of the Minoan civilization have been destroyed by the bombing of Candia in Crete [June 2], but if you want to see the most precious treasure ever dug up on that island, go to the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. It is the Snake Goddess of the Minoans, ivory and gold. Ainslie G. McDougall.

The title of the Yale song to the tune of "The Watch on the Rhine" [see above] is "For God, for Country, and for Yale." This is spoken of by Harvard men as the greatest anti-climax in history. CHARLES COLLINS.

NEW CHEMICAL WEAPONS AGAINST INFECTIONS.

WHILE the summer months may not bring many bacterial seizures—other than those which disturb the digestive tract—nevertheless we must remember that we will have plenty of sore throats, even pneumonia. The reason we are healthier in the warmer season is because we spend more time out of doors, flooding the system with fresh air. Furthermore, sunshine is our best destroyer of germs.

But should trouble come we must not forget the importance of the members of the sulfanilamide family. They have now been in general use for about five years. Apparently these chemicals help to conquer disease by stopping the growing tendencies of many organisms—probably cutting off their nourishment. At any rate, physicians feel justified in employing them in severe infections from many causes—in meningitis for example, and particularly when the streptococcus exhibits its vicious rôle.

Altho reports of failures have been noted on numerous occasions, the successes outnumber them a hundredfold. Much depends upon the vigor of the attack. "If the remedy is good, use enough" is an old saying. It is necessary also to resort to the compounds as quickly as the diagnosis can be made. Discharging ears, erysipelas, acute arthritis, and bacteria along the urinary tract will retreat in consternation under their influence. In like fashion, pneumonia—hitherto resistant to every known agent except serum—may vanish as quickly as a fog before a rising sun.

Fortunately there are but few toxic effects. Nevertheless, we should recall that we are fighting fire with fire. Even at the risk of rendering the patient uncomfortable, we should utilize these substances if the need arises. Certain mild disturbances such as headache, lack of appetite, nausea, dizziness, and blueness about the lips may be endured for safety's sake.

Care must be taken to choose just the right product. As an illustration, sulfathiazole is less likely to cause nausea and vomiting than sulfapyridine. Should any or all of these reactions become unbearable, we can promptly suspend the doses for 24 hours. In consequence, most of the unwelcome signs will disappear.

There are two important precautions. First of all, the urine must be watched critically for the appearance of blood. Second, the white cells [leucocytes] must be checked daily for any possible damage. The physician will usually prescribe sodium bicarbonate along with the drug in order to guard against the loss of sodium by the body. The abrupt change for the better in the condition of the patient is little short of miraculous. With adequate dosage, this transformation may come within 24 or 36 hours—sometimes much earlier.

Strangely enough, with these new materials, there has been observed what is known as a "drug fever," and it may be difficult to determine whether the temperature is coming from the sulfathiazole or from the disease. In some instances a thermometer reading of 103 to 105 will drop as soon as the preparation is stopped. In like fashion, a rash which may imitate scarlet fever may be produced. But, here again, discontinuing the medicine is all that is required.

We can look upon these aids as life saving both with children and adults. In addition, the duration of each illness may be but half as long.

While these remedies are not "foolproof" they may be regarded as marking the greatest single advance in the fight against disease that has appeared within recent years.

CHRONIC ECZEMA.

E. W. writes: Is salt rheum caused by the excessive use of salt?

REPLY.

Not at all. This is a common name for eczema, or tetter. The cause is some irritant to which the patient's skin is sensitive. The word "rheum" means a discharge—watery or catarrhal. The lesions appear scaly, as tho salt had been allowed to evaporate on the cuticle. Relief will come as soon as the annoying substance can be identified and avoided.

White or pinkish elevations or ridges on the skin, commonly called "hives." Not the devices that make transportation possible.

THE FUTURE OF "DOWNTOWN."

Chicago, June 5.—Fifty-one years ago, as an awestruck small boy, curious to see all he could, I stood in the foyer of the new Auditorium and watched men and women going up in the elevator to the observation tower, then the highest point in Chicago. It cost 25 cents to get up there. A friendly man in gray uniform [the elevator starter] asked me if I didn't want to go up, also. I replied that I surely would but that I didn't have the necessary quarter. "Well," said he, "you step into the elevator with the people who are now going up, just as if you belonged with them"—and I didn't need a second invitation! My, was I the happy kid, tho! It seemed during the hour I was up there that I just couldn't get my fill of the wonderful sight out over the blue waters of Lake Michigan, and down toward Wabash avenue where the cable cars looked like toys and the people so small that they seemed to be like bugs crawling along the sidewalk.

And now the newspapers report that the magnificent old Auditorium is to be torn down because of insufficient income to pay the taxes which are probably 10 times higher now than when the Auditorium was erected, as are the taxes on older homes built by the average citizen in this wonderful city of ours; and with no consideration for depreciation of the improvements nor for the elderly owners' ability, or lack of ability, to pay the taxes assessed.

An old textbook of mine on "American Government," by Ashley, in discussing taxation, remarks that, primarily a good tax should be according to a citizen's ability to pay it. Obviously, the same fair rule should apply to ageing properties like the Auditorium and the recently demolished Capitol building. But with a lot of well fed fatheads making our tax laws and spreading the tax assessments what can one expect? The Auditorium site will probably make a fine parking lot; and after a while most of Chicago's older areas will be converted into parking lots, also; and eventually there will be practically no buildings in the downtown area except the city hall, the county building, and the United States courthouse.

Consequently there will be little use for our new subway. Business, in general, the large department stores and hotels will be moving out of Cook county or to the suburban sections of the city—and the stockyards will be taking over the abandoned weed-grown parking lots and use Grant park as a pasture for cattle awaiting slaughter. Anyway such seems to be the general trend of events under the present confiscatory taxing system.

AN ADVOCATE OF "UNION NOW."

Chicago, June 5.—Your Sunday article, "The First 'Union Now' Man, Benedict Arnold," makes no attempt anywhere to show Union Now as analogous except in the title and two brief inferences.

In an earlier article you imply that Union Now is a new piece of British imperialist propaganda. This ignores the fact that the Union Now proposal bases representation on population, so that the United States would outvote the entire British commonwealth nations in the ratio of 27 to 22.

It asserts that "details of the plan are vague." On the contrary, minute details are published in books and pamphlets and obtainable at the newly opened Chicago office, Room 3513, 135 South La Salle street. Any one may disagree, but to call it vague is possible only for one who has not read the literature.

It asserts: "The basic idea of superfederation was outlined about 25 years ago." This is a complete misunderstanding; it was first outlined 154 years ago in the constitution, "to form a more perfect union" between 13 separate and sovereign governments, quarreling with such division and hostility that Washington in 1786 wrote to John Jay, "I am uneasy and apprehensive, more so than during the war." It has operated successfully for more than 150 years.

Your article assertz that [according to the Illinois department of the Daughters of the American Revolution] it is "an invasion of our rights as free and independent American citizens." This is true to the same extent that the constitution, at its adoption, invaded the rights of the citizens of New Hampshire, Pennsylvania, and Virginia. Even the later admission of Texas [as foreign to the Atlantic seaboard in 1789 as England or Ireland are to us today] is never thought of as an invasion of any of our rights.

A PUZZLING QUERY.

Chicago, June 4.—News from Washington says that many factories, unable to do defense work, will need to close for lack of material such as steel, copper, zinc, etc., and that many workers in these factories will shortly be without jobs. In view of these developments will you please advise me thru your columns what there will be left of democracy and the American way of life for us who have invested our life savings in small businesses and daily work from morning until night to make sure that our investment remains real and worth something.

SUSPEND POLICE CAPTAIN; 3 BOOKS FOUND IN DISTRICT

McGurn Out After Allman Jails 200 Gamblers.

Capt. Charles G. McGurn of the West North avenue station was suspended yesterday as a result of the police department's drive to close handbooks and other gambling places in the city. McGurn, 57 years old, has been a captain for 15 years and a member of the department since 1907.

His suspension was ordered by Commissioner James P. Allman after raiding squads from his office on Thursday had seized nearly 200 persons in three handbooks in McGurn's district. The books were said to be operated by Martin Guilfoyle and Anthony [Tough Tony] Capezio, hoodlums in the Frank [The Enforcer] Nitti and Danny Stanton crime syndicate.

Second Captain Suspended.

Capt. McGurn is the second station commander to be suspended in the last two months by Commissioner Allman in his drive to clamp the lid on handbook betting. Besides the suspensions, 17 captains, including McGurn, were recently transferred in what was said to be the largest department shakeup in a decade.

Gamblers said yesterday that not many handbooks were operating. Bets on the horses were being taken over cigar counters and by runners for handbook owners. Horse racing fans, however, were unable to find places where they could listen to the running of the races while they made bets.

Blow Aimed at Gangsters.

Commissioner Allman let it be known some months ago that the department would close handbooks and thus put an end to the income of gangsters and racketeers who were operating numerous places. The Nitti-Stanton gangs controlled many.

Commissioner Allman refused to say whether charges, if any, would be filed against Capt. McGurn. "That will depend on developments," he said.

The police head would make no further comment, but Mayor Kelly, in discussing the suspension, said: "Commissioner Allman is running the department and when he sends out an order he means business. Capt. McGurn probably had plenty warnings and his suspension, no doubt, was warranted."

Tough Tony's Brother Seized.

Capt. John I. Howe of Commissioner Allman's office, who directed the raids, said Frank Capezio, a brother of Tough Tony, was seized in one of the books. Twenty of those arrested were found to have police records.

One of the bookie patrons, it developed, has been sought by the New York police since March, 1939 on a grand larceny charge. He is Harry H. Surdonovich, 40 years old, and police said he has a previous record.

ADAMS CHARGES GOVERNOR GREEN BREAKS PLEDGES

Quincy, Ill., June 6 (AP).—Homer Mat Adams of Springfield, national president of the Young Democratic Clubs of America and a University of Illinois trustee, declared today that Gov. Green's first five months in office has left a "record of broken promises—a record of utter failure to keep faith with the people."

As keynote speaker at the state Young Democratic convention, Adams declared that Gov. Green's new taxes on cigarets, liquor, and oil were "nuisance taxes that will harass the small business man" and attacked the new Republican administration's failure to take the state sales tax off food purchases.

James W. Jardine of Chicago was reported unopposed for the presidency of the Young Democrats in the election scheduled for Saturday. By agreement, the presidency goes to Cook county this year since the retiring president, Norman P. Jones, Springfield, is from downstate.

VOTE TO INDICT 3 ACCUSED IN THEFT CASES

The grand jury was reported to have voted true bills yesterday naming three colored men—one on three counts of receiving stolen property, the others on several burglary counts.

The three are Vernon King, 27 years old, 4631 Michigan avenue, charged with receiving stolen property; Hugh Catron, 27, of 5200 South Park way, and Ernest King, 21, of 4436 Indiana avenue. Police said Vernon King is wanted in Louisville, Ky., for burglary. The others were arrested a week ago in Flossmoor and admitted 13 burglaries, according to Chief of Police Joseph B. Dineen.

Chief Dineen said about $1,000 in loot was recovered of an estimated $3,000 taken in burglaries in Northfield, Wilmette, Evanston, Blue Island, Flossmoor, Gary, and other towns.

NURSE CHARGES TALLEY TROUBLE COST HER 2 JOBS

Los Angeles, Cal., June 6 (AP).—A nurse testified today she had lost two positions as a church singer because of trouble between Opera Singer Marion Talley and Voice Coach Adolph G. Eckstrom.

Edith Klein, nurse for the couple's child, Susan, said she lost one job in St. Paul, Minn., because "there was gossip—people thought it was my child."

Miss Klein testified at Miss Talley's suit for divorce and for full custody of Susan, now 6 years old, that Eckstrom was an excellent father. A year ago, she said, she talked with Susan after the girl had been with her mother for six weeks.

"She asked me if it were wrong to tell a lie, and I said it was very wrong," Miss Klein asserted. "She said her mother told her it was all right to tell a lie if it was important."

LAST FUGITIVE OF KILLER GANG UNDER ARREST

The last fugitive of a band of five Negro robbers who shot and fatally wounded Policeman Patrick E. O'Malley on Aug. 21, 1938, is in custody in Detroit, Mich., John L. Sullivan, chief of detectives, was notified yesterday.

The man in custody is Lucius Webb, 24 years old, who, according to Sullivan, has admitted taking part in the attempted robbery of a tavern at 2405 North Clark street where the killing occurred. He denied he did any shooting.

Policeman O'Malley killed one of the robbers, two are serving 199 year sentences, and another was electrocuted. Sullivan said papers will be prepared for the return of Webb.

FIND 1½ IN. NEEDLE IN A PROSPECTIVE DRAFTEE'S BACK

John H. Carpenter, 30 years old, has suffered from pains in his back for several years. Yesterday, when he reported to the Chicago selective service station for induction into the army, army physicians discovered that a broken surgical needle 1½ inches long is embedded in the lower part of his spine. An X-ray picture taken as a part of the final physical examination given draftees disclosed the needle's presence. Carpenter, who lives at 7030 Bennett avenue, said the needle must have been in his back since an operation performed in 1937. He was rejected for service.

TEACHER IN GIRL DEATH INQUIRY WINS JURY TRIAL

Judge Leon Edelman in Town Hall court yesterday granted a jury trial to William J. Branz, 36 years old, an attorney and a teacher of German in Lane Technical High school. Branz faces a charge of disorderly conduct in connection with the death of Miss Elsa Hafner, 25, who died April 10 of an overdose of sleeping drugs. The case will be heard July 7 in jury court. Branz has taken a lie detector test recommended by a coroner's jury last week. Miss Hafner, who lived at 1020 Oakdale avenue, became ill from the effects of the drug after attending a party with Branz.

ATTENTION, MOTHERS!

You know that baby's skin must be protected by massaging with certain oils. You may be surprised to learn that your fur coat needs a similar treatment. And it gets that treatment whenever you have it Hollanderized. Special oils are massaged into the leather side of the skins. It's another reason for having your furs Hollanderized.

222 OUT OF 445 UP FOR PAROLE WIN CLEMENCY

Board Grants Half of May Docket Applications.

Half of the inmates of Illinois prisons whose parole applications appeared on the May docket were granted their freedom, the Illinois Parole board's report showed yesterday. Parole orders effective during April, May and June were approved for 222 prisoners out of 445 seeking paroles. Applications were denied in 169 cases, and 54 cases were continued.

For Cornelius Johnson, colored convict released in May, the board's action was nothing new. It was his fifth parole — and he violated the other four. Johnson was first sent to Joliet penitentiary in 1924 for armed robbery. He was paroled in 1929. Less than a year later he was arrested and identified in 38 holdups.

Board Circumvents Judge.

He pleaded guilty to three robbery charges, and the state waived two indictments containing habitual criminal counts. However, the late Judge Harry B. Miller attempted to nullify the state's waiver by sentencing Johnson to serve one year to life for each robbery charge, and ordered the sentences to be served consecutively. "This blocks any move that might be made for his release," Judge Miller said.

The three consecutive sentences meant that three paroles would be required to free Johnson, one for each sentence. In October, 1937, he was granted the third parole—actually his fourth, if the parole granted in 1929 is included—and released from prison. In February, 1938, he was recommitted for parole violation. He had established himself as the head of a "mail order" system intended to win paroles for other convicts.

Termed "One of Worst at Joliet."

Other convicts granted paroles included the following:

James Gentile, serving 10 years to life for the $80,000 pay roll robbery at the International Harvester company's tractor plant in 1926. Gentile previously served a year in Ohio for robbery and eight months in the House of Correction here for larceny.

John M. Jenkins, serving 1 to 20 years for a robbery committed in 1935. Jenkins previously served time in Kentucky for embezzlement and in Tennessee for larceny.

Fred A. Fosnacht, a former Chicago garage owner serving 1 to 20 years for receiving stolen automobiles. Fosnacht was sentenced to 1 to 10 years on a similar charge in 1929, and was paroled in 1930. His second conviction came in 1933.

Frank Laino, serving a 1 year to life sentence imposed in 1933 for robbery. Laino was reputedly a member of the old "42" gang of west side hoodlums.

Joseph Hermanowski, serving 1 year to life for a robbery committed in 1935. He was paroled in 1931 after serving a year in Pontiac reformatory for larceny.

William Grenke, sentenced in 1934 to 1 to 20 years on each of eight auto larceny charges, 1 year to life for burglary, and 1 to 5 years for conspiracy. The sentences were to run consecutively. Grenko was a member of an auto theft ring which stole 100 cars.

John T. Malahy, sentenced in 1938 to 1 to 10 years for operating a confidence game. Malahy, a city employé for 27 years, had accepted money in return for promises to obtain persons city and state jobs.

Joseph Wilkie, sentenced in 1933 to 1 to 20 years for auto larceny. A former chief of police in East Hazelcrest, he was a policeman in that suburb when arrested. Previously he had served two Bridewell terms.

George L. Trier, sentenced in 1938 to 1 to 10 years for swindling three women out of $12,000. Two of the women were unmarried, and he had promised to marry them.

On the May docket 106 cases were those of prisoners whose names appeared automatically because they had served the minimum term provided in their sentences. None of these prisoners was paroled, altho three cases were continued for further review and 12 were continued pending investigation of home sponsor and employment claims. Paroles were denied in 91 of these cases.

GOOD HUMOR MAN AND DIOGENES IN GAYER MOOD NOW

Diogenes with his lantern would have liked this:

On May 31, Albert Lachance, 2120 Cleveland avenue, a Good Humor salesman, dropped his wallet containing $80 in Highland Park. He reported it to Highland Park police.

Yesterday he notified them that Edward Sadauski, 1013 North Western avenue, had found the wallet, returned it, and steadfastly refused to take any reward.

"I offered him $40," Lachance told police, "but he just wouldn't take it. Said he was glad of the chance to do a good turn. I finally threw a $10 bill on the floor and left before he could give it back."

$2,200 IN CLOTHING STOLEN.

TRIBUNE NAMES 430 RADIO STAR CONTEST VICTORS

Milwaukee Woman Wins $1,000 Grand Prize.

Here are the 430 winners in THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE'S "Radio Super-Stars" contest which began March 3 and ended April 19.

Contestants were asked to solve 40 daily cartoons which depicted in rebus form the names of as many radio "super stars." Response to this popular puzzle game was flattering and widespread. A ballot accompanied the last cartoon so that each contestant might vote for his or her favorite radio "super star" and write a 25 word letter giving reasons for the choice. From among the hundreds who sent in perfect solutions the winners were chosen on the merit of these letters.

The grand prize of $1,000 was awarded to Mrs. Irene B. Elsen, 3243 North 28th street, Milwaukee. The second prize, $500, goes to Thomas Gleason, 7839 Sangamon, Chicago. Mrs. Bernice Campbell, 417 Spruce street, Aurora, the winner of third prize, receives $250.

DR. HERB TO RETIRE FROM HOSPITAL POST; PIONEER ANESTHETIST

Dr. Isabella C. Herb.

Dr. Isabella C. Herb, pioneer American anesthetist, will retire from active duty today after 32 years as head anesthetist at Presbyterian hospital. She will be given the rank of apesthetist emeritus on the hospital staff.

Dr. Herb became famed among physicians and surgeons as the first anesthetist to administer ethylene gas at operations, and her writings on the subject have appeared in various medical textbooks. She was graduated from the women's medical college of Northwestern university and was associated in her work with famed surgeons, including the late Drs. Will and Charles Mayo in their early years at their hospital in Rochester, Minn.

She joined the Presbyterian hospital staff in 1909. She will be guest of honor this afternoon at an interns' reunion in the hospital.

SEX INSTRUCTION CALLED REMEDY TO MARITAL WOE

Doctor Discusses Need for Education.

BY GEORGE MORGENSTERN.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Cleveland, O., June 6.—Terming the frankness of youth amazing, but its ignorance appalling, Dr. Robert L. Dickinson of New York City said today that a great extension in premarital sex instruction was necessary to head off marital maladjustment, divorce, and promiscuity.

In an address before the concluding meeting of the convention of the American Medical association, Dr. Dickinson said:

"In marital adjustment, as in other fields, the curative function will some day yield first place to the preventive function. Our impatience and discontent steadily increase over any restriction to mere diagnosis of an incurable ailment. If this holds for disease, why not for divorce?

Calls Maladjustments Preventable.

"It took 20 years of practice to convince me that marital maladjustments are mostly preventable. Three-dimensional consultation should consist of consideration of heredity factors, adaptability and training of the young couple, and adjustability to sexual relationship and child bearing.

"Any community that waits to give training that anticipates marriage until patterns are set—or well on the way toward setting—into permanent maladjustment or divorce, or toward promiscuity, is guilty of unpardonable lack of foresight.

"Furthermore," he said, "if it is true that owing to the various depressions in finance that have greatly prolonged engagements, there is a considerable increase in the number of companionate couples who adopt full marital privileges, then counseling should begin early to antedate the possibility of complete intimacy."

Puts Blame on Parents.

Dr. Dickinson said that the ignorance of youth about sex matters was merely a reflection. "Their normal curiosity," he said of the youngsters, "has been equaled only by that of their parents."

The premarital consultation, he said, should unearth major ignorance of primary sexual problems and determine the mutual sex balances or antagonisms between the prospective partners. Knowledge of birth control is equally necessary, if for no other reason than economic capacity to have children. The physician should also set the best time for the arrival of the first and subsequent children. Dr. Dickinson said that of 3,000 couples studied, 85 per cent termed their marriages happy, altho there was some degree of physical maladjustment in half the cases.

50 LEADERS ORGANIZE CAMPAIGN TO RESCUE AUDITORIUM BUILDING

Fifty Chicago leaders met yesterday in the Auditorium hotel and organized a campaign to save the historic Auditorium theater, hotel and office building. The owners have announced that the building will be closed June 30 because of continuing financial losses and an accumulation of $1,150,000 in taxes.

The rescue meeting was called by the Greater Central District association and the Wabash Avenue District association. A resolution was adopted calling for the appointment of a citizens' committee, which will confer with Mayor Kelly and the county board of commissioners on proposals to make the Auditorium a civic building.

Telegrams and letters from many leading citizens urging that the building be saved were read to the meeting. One of the letters was from Mayor Kelly. Representatives of women's clubs and cultural groups promised to assist in the campaign.

5 GUNMEN INVADE BREWERY; SHOOT ONE; TAKE $50,000

Minneapolis, Minn., June 6 (AP).—Frank Kiewel, advertising manager of the Minneapolis Brewery company, said five men, armed with revolvers and sawed-off shotguns, entered the brewery today, wounded an employé, and escaped with cash estimated at $50,000.

James Christiansen of the brewery's city desk sales force was shot in the back, Kiewel said, "when he didn't move fast enough." His condition was not believed to be serious.

The large amount of money on hand had just been brought into the brewery from a bank.

Bodies of Two Manteno Boys Found in Quarry

Kankakee, Ill., June 6 [Special].—The bodies of two Manteno boys, missing since Wednesday, were recovered today from a water filled quarry west of Manteno by a Chicago diver, William M. Lehndorf. The youths, Claude Grice, 15 years old, and Louis Grant, 14, had left their homes to go fishing. Their clothes were found on the quarry bank, which led officials to drag the water.

50 Automobile Honkers Get Tickets from Police

Motorcycle policemen took the offensive yesterday in the current drive against unnecessary horn honking. They gave out 50 tickets between 4 p. m. and midnight, according to Sergt. Thomas Roche of the motorcycle division, and three earlier in the day. Station squad car men also are under orders to give summonses to the noisier motorists.

Exciting Gown Parade Held at Art Institute

BY RITA FITZPATRICK.

Commercial stylists each season dictate definite trends for the lady of fashion to follow. Unlike the professional prophets, however, advanced student dress designers of the Art institute set down only two rules for chic, originality, and individuality last evening at their annual style show.

They were their own clients, designers, pattern makers, dressmakers, and models, and each created gowns to suit her own personality.

There was Kasia Spilos, a tall, well proportioned brunette, who sat off her olive beauty with a romantic gown of white net and eyelet organdy. Her ballerina net skirt fluffed from a trim bodice of organdy and her graceful shoulders rose above an off-the-shoulder flounce. She called the gown "White Heaven."

Lorraine Sikorski, a tiny, dainty blonde, floated down the runway in a romantic boudoir ensemble of dotted swiss which she named "Moonlight and Roses." The negligee skirt was created of large flounces of white swiss patterned with old-fashioned pink roses whose fullness were held together by inserts of pale green lace.

The flowering collar, falling softly to the trim waistline, gave her the look of a Dresden doll. But beneath the demure garment, the nightgown was a sophisticated sheath of the material.

Then there was "Blackout," designed by Marian Rutae, another blonde who used the sophisticated lady theme. "Blackout" was a dinner dress of black faille trimmed in Venise lace. A two piece costume, it was composed of a pencil slim skirt slit in front above the ankles and a pert, full peplumed jacket whose V necklines in front and back were outlined in ovals of the lace. The lace also paraded over the soft shoulders of her short sleeves. Shocking pink stockings, slippers, and large chiffon handkerchief were her accessories.

Another charming dress was worn by Betty Hedlund. It was christened "Chinoise." Made of an authentic red and white Chinese shantung print known as "China Forever," the gown was definitely a dine at home number. Casual yet tailored, it was simplicity itself. Two pieced, it had a slender, inverted plaited skirt and a high blouse with slit sleeves in the Chinese manner. White piping outlined the neckline. Jade green slippers peeped out from beneath her hem.

In all, 21 attractive gowns were modeled by 10 members of the class. Perhaps there is a reason for the distinct individuality of the gowns. The class instructor is a man—Quil Monroe.

Meets Alumnae

[Normandie Photo.]

Miss Bernice McDermott, who is president of the Loyola University Alumnae association, will help to welcome graduating seniors at Loyola into the alumnae group at a luncheon today in the Crystal ballroom of the Blackstone hotel. The party is under the direction of Miss Nelle N. Barry.

Another Pledge to Americans

President Roosevelt, on October 30, 1940, speaking to fathers and mothers on the selective service act.

"And while I am talking to you mothers and fathers I give you one more assurance.

"I have said this before, but I shall say it again and again. Your boys are not going to be sent into any foreign wars.

"They are going into training to form a force so strong, that by its very existence, it will keep the threat of war far away from our shores.

★ THRU THE LOOKING GLASS ★

Next week there'll be some scurrying around for suitable gifts for Father's day. We can't think of many better hunting grounds than the toilet goods counters.

Toiletries for men, you might be interested to know, are more and more important. The sheepish feeling so many men professed to have about the use of colognes, talcs and hair dressings is breaking down at a great rate. More and more of the creatures are not only being brave, but are bragging about their toiletries.

There are several good lines styled especially for men. Everything about these preparations, even to the packaging, is carefully calculated to appeal to the masculine tastes. Fragrances are fresh in character and not too highly concentrated.

One line, for instance, of soap, deodorant, shaving lotion, talc [in a tan rather than cream tint], cologne and hair dressing is delicately scented with heather. Containers are sturdy stone jugs.

The nice thing about these, according to the men, is that they're unmistakably their own. They're proud to display them on their bathroom shelf and they like them as grooming touches because they haven't the faintest suggestion of the sissy note.

Good Morning!

What is it those English producers have that we haven't!

When it comes to turning out a program mystery film they have us licked a hundred ways from Sunday. And so effortlessly!

Take "Girl in the News"—78 minutes packed with electrifying suspense and drama! An intricate plot worked out perfectly, believably and engrossingly in just that length of time! Intelligent and consistent cooperation between director and players. [Brilliant players!] Dialog that clicks.

And such cunning shading of meaning. Hollywood has often spent a million on a two hour movie that isn't one two three with this.

The heroine is a lovely nurse who finds herself accused of two murders. In each case the circumstances of death are the same.

And I will not tell you ONE THING MORE about the story.

Margaret Lockwood gives a delightfully clean cut and appealing portrait of Nurse Graham. . . . Barry K. Barnes is a skillful and fascinating defense attorney. Emlyn Williams and Irene Handl scare the wits out of you as two strange, quiet, unpredictable people whose actions have important bearing on the story.

Betty Jardine introduces some sharply gratifying comedy and all other rôles are magnificently handled. . . . Especially effective in "bit" parts are Basil Radford and the man who plays a judge. Name isn't in the cast.

From the first second of the first scene to the unexpected denouement your heart is right—in—your—throat! AND, Baby, I don't mean MAYBE!

One of That Old Gang of Ours Is Caught in Draft

Presidio of Monterey, Cal., June 6 (AP).—The signal light flashed red and a comely driver braked her car to a stop. From the curb stepped a soldier, a young Negro, good nature written all over his beaming face. The driver pressed the car's horn, leaned out and said:

"Say—don't I know you?"

The soldier smiled bashfully. It was a smile remembered by many a movie-goer of the days when "Our Gang" comedies were at their peak.

Farina as a soldier —in 1933.

"I'm Private Allan Hoskins, Company D, 47th Quartermaster Regiment," he replied. Then the traffic light changed and Claudette Colbert drove on.

"Why didn't you tell her you were Farina?" asked a soldier standing near Private Hoskins. The colored moppet of "Our Gang" comedies said wistfully:

"Well, Farina was the name of that other guy she was thinking of—a little guy whose contract called for more money in a week than I make now in a year. I'd rather she remembered me as I used to be, before the world lost its sense of humor."

Auditorium Tenants.

Not only are Chicago citizens distressed over the probability of the Auditorium closing June 30, and the loss to the city of what is considered by many the greatest theater and opera house in the world, but it is a heart breaking thought to tenants of the building, many of whom have been there a quarter of a century and more. There is Louis Rousseau, who sang with the Opera Comique, who has his school of opera in the Auditorium building, and Mario Carboni, who sang in opera with Caruso, who has his studio there. Caruso's son, who lives in Chicago, often comes in to visit with his father's old friend. Walter Goodell, music arranger, had had his studio there for 27 years; Misses Tillie and Nettie Tollacson, modistes, have been there for 30 years, and Miss Gerda Ahlm has worked at restoring paintings in the building for 20 years. Mary Garden, Edith Mason, Rosa Raisa, all have had studios there and still use the building occasionally, and Dino Begalli, opera coach, has been a tenant for years. Dr. Christian D. Balatka, who died this week in his eighties, has had his music school there for 30 years and his father, the late Hans Balatka before him. The Auditorium is headquarters for the Woman's symphony orchestra, national headquarters for the 4-H clubs, meeting place for the Dale Carnegie groups. Miss Iva Mingle has had her Livable Christianity headquarters there for a quarter of a century. A number of doctors have had offices in the Auditorium for upwards of 30 years.

Moritz Rosenthal holds his master classes at the Auditorium when he comes to Chicago. Mary Garden taught there. Alexander Raab arrived in Chicago this week to start his annual master classes there. Burton Holmes gave his first lecture in Recital hall at the Auditorium, which has seen the debuts of many performers who have since become famous. And Miss Grace Nichols, who colored Holmes' first slides and still does color slide work, had her studio there. In fact, every room in the historic building is used.

Darrell Matthews, a director of the Auditorium property, whose interest in music and musicians makes his interest in the property a deep and personal one, likes to remember what Mary Garden said about the Auditorium theater. She said it was the finest opera house in the world and added:

"There are two things to consider in estimating the quality of an opera house: Where the artists sing from and where the audience listens from. There is no theater in the world that has the perfect combination as has the Auditorium. Certainly, the French opera has a grand staircase and gold chandeliers. The Auditorium hasn't. But a grand staircase and golden chandeliers do not make a great opera house."

The closing down of the Auditorium property would make that section of Chicago seem like a ghost city. Yet, unless a corporation not for profit is organized to operate the theater, thus making it nontaxable, it will close June 30.

3 Engagements Are Day's Big Society News

BY JUDITH CASS.

THREE engagement announcements are today's most interesting romantic news. Miss Jane Harper is engaged to George W. Overton Jr.; Miss Barbara Lawrence to Joseph Hughes Newton, and Miss Marjory Mitchell to John E. Wing Jr. Mr. and Mrs. Paul V. Harper are giving a small tea this afternoon at their home in Libertyville for their daughter and her fiancé, son of Mr. and Mrs. George W. Overton of Geneva.

Miss Harper, granddaughter of the late George E. Vincent, president of the Rockefeller Foundation, and the late William Rainey Harper, president of the University of Chicago, just was graduated from Bryn Mawr college. She prepared for college at the Putney school and the North Shore Country Day school.

She made her debut three years ago. Mr. Overton Jr. is studying law at the University of Chicago after having been to college at Harvard. No plans for the wedding have been made.

Miss Harper has one brother, Paul Jr., who just has finished his medical studies at Harvard and who is going to be an intern at the Billings hospital. He and his wife and their

BACKER AND MURDERER.

INSTALMENT XLVIII.

Wallace lunged to his feet. "I never bought it back!" he shouted.

"At which place?" Warburton asked swiftly.

Dave drew out a piece of paper from his shirt pocket and handed it to Warburton. "Read it out loud, Judge," Dave said drily.

Warburton read, "I, the undersigned, received the deed to the Bib M in return for payment of $10,000 on the night of Sept. 15 at the big cottonwood by Alamo Butte. [Signed] Tate Wallace."

Warburton raised his eyes from the note and looked down at a man and said, "Senator Maitland, you were the purchaser."

For a moment, there wasn't a sound in the room, as everybody looked at Maitland. He was sitting behind the table, his kindly face suddenly gone very unkindly and gray and drawn looking.

It was Wallace who acted first. He lunged out of his chair, a gun in each hand, and faced the courtroom and the sheriff.

"Maitland," he drawled, "it's time we left this party, I reckon."

Maitland suddenly got a hold on himself. He stood up, not looking at Bruce McFee, and bowed ironically to Dave, and then said grimly, "Not before I finish a little business, Tate. Give me a gun."

"Git back of me and open the window!" Wallace said harshly. "I'm goin' to take care of him myself."

Maitland stepped swiftly behind Wallace and threw open the window. It looked out on a sloping roof of a store that adjoined the courthouse.

"Jump," Wallace said.

"Not until I see you kill him," Maitland said harshly.

At that moment, Dave moved. Or rather he exploded. He dived for the shelter of the judge's bench, and at the same moment a gun roared out. The bench boomed with the slap of the slug.

A woman screamed, and Beal dropped on his face. Warburton cringed away and the prosecutor dived under a table.

Maitland said savagely, "Go over and get him!"

And then Ernie's voice bawled out, "Catch, Dave!"

His gun went lobbing over the heads of the standing crowd the whole length of the room. It hit the front wall and caromed down the bench.

It did not strike the board floor, and Wallace, as well as every man in that room, knew that Dave had caught it.

Wallace didn't hesitate. He turned and ran for the window. Maitland jumped. Ernie ducked out the back door. Wallace achieved the sill, and then Dave's voice rapped out, "Turn around and take it, Wallace!"

Wallace wheeled, standing in the window, to send one snap shot at Dave before he jumped.

And then Dave's gun opened with one sustained roar. Wallace screamed and tried to grab for the window frame. But the bullets from Dave's gun, all five of them, had broken his arm and smashed into his body. He toppled slowly over, blood already gushing from his mouth, and then he fell. They heard the heavy, lifeless thud of his body on the roof, heard it slide, then heard it drop dully to the ground, like a sack of dropped oats.

Ernie piled out onto the stair landing as Maitland left the window for the roof. Ernie vaulted the railing and hit the roof 30 feet from Maitland just one second later. Maitland rolled, fell, landed on his feet in the passageway between the two buildings, then ran for the alley.

Ernie raced along the roof. When Maitland broke out into the alley he turned left, coming in behind the building Ernie was on. Ernie, hauling up at the edge of the roof, saw Maitland below. Scarcely pausing in his stride, he jumped. Five shots rocketed out from the courtroom in quick succession.

Maitland took four full steps, and then Ernie landed astride his shoulders with the impact of a ton of rock.

He simply caved in under Ernie's weight. And Ernie just sat on him and bawled, "Come and get him!"

Maitland didn't even cry out. They found Ernie that way, sitting on Maitland's head, yelling at the top of his lungs.

Maitland was carried to the jail, and Beal, with Dave and McFee on either side of him, Judge Warburton behind him, and Carol and Lily lost in the howling mob somewhere behind, followed. Ernie had Maitland slung over his shoulder, and he marched thru the office into the cell block and deposited Maitland on a cot.

This time, Beal and Ernie really had a fight to keep the townspeople out. But this time Beal was serious and it didn't take long.

When the howling mob was on the other side of the steel door, Beal came back to the cell where Ernie was working over Maitland, throwing the water from the drinking pail in Maitland's face in measured slops.

McFee, Dave and Beal stood over him and Ernie slapped Maitland's face.

Maitland's eyes opened and he looked gravely at the four of them. Then his eyes rested on McFee a long moment and then slid away.

"I'm sorry, Bruce," he murmured. "I almost had you."

"But why?" McFee cried. "Why did you do it?"

Maitland shut his eyes and said softly, "Money, money, more money, power, everything. Why does a man want what he wants?" He opened his eyes now and they settled on Dave. "I—I misjudged you, too. I should have killed you. I almost did when you were talking with Ernie. I should have known."

Beal said tonelessly, "Want a doctor?"

Maitland made a wry face and whispered, "It's too late—too late for everything."

He suddenly sighed, and his head rolled over and he looked as if he were asleep, at peace with all the world. He was dead.

Ernie shuddered and turned and went out. Beal and McFee followed. Once in the corridor, the four of them looked at each other.

"Who starts first?" Beal asked, and his cherubic face broke into a smile. He said to Dave, "If you'd look at me just once without sneerin', I'd ask to shake your hand."

Dave grinned then, and Beal put out his hand. "Hell, I been wrong. Been wrong most of my life, I reckon. But I'll promise you one thing, Coyle. I'll git that reward lifted from you if I have to hold the governor up to do it." They shook hands on that.

McFee said quietly, "This last reward is lifted automatically. As for the $7,000, I put $3,000 of it on him myself." He smiled at Dave. "That's off, now. And if I know my politics, the rest will come off."

"Politics?" Ernie echoed.

McFee nodded, and smiled gently. "Governor Johns and Maitland hated each other like poison. I know that, because I'm a friend of both. And now that Maitland is gone—well, Johns steps in to take over the territory. I think Johns will be properly thankful for the man who turned up Maitland's crooked work."

Ernie looked at Dave and grinned, "How does it sound?"

Before Dave could answer, there was a hammering on the door, a persistent hammering. Ernie broke away and went to the corridor door and opened it.

Carol and Lily Sholto, the crowd in the corridor shoving them, came in. Their dresses were ruffled, and Carol's cheeks were flushed with excitement.

"Dad!" she cried. She ran into McFee's arms and hugged him, and he hugged her, close to tears.

Carol broke away from him and looked at Dave.

McFee said, "Don't thank him yet, girl. I haven't had my say."

He looked over at Dave and smiled wryly. "Well, youngster, you've called me a jughead, a knothead, grampa, thickheaded, bullheaded, stubborn, hardhearted, a miser, a bully, and a fraud. I'd like to shake your hand." [Concluded Monday.]

baby, Alice, will be coming to Chicago soon. Mr. Overton has two sisters, the Misses Jean and Catharine Overton.

Lawrence-Newton Nuptials Set for Fall.

"Bobs" Lawrence is the youngest of three daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Kendall Lawrence of East Delaware place. Mr. Newton is one of three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Newton of Chicago. Miss Lawrence was educated at the University School for Girls and made her debut eight years ago.

Recently she has been working three or four days a week at Red Cross headquarters. Mr. Newton is a graduate of the University of Illinois. He and Miss Lawrence plan to be married in the late summer or early fall.

Miss Lawrence's two sisters are Mrs. Otto Schulz of Evanston and Mrs. William Harshe of Chicago. Mr. Newton's brothers are Charles, who lives in New York, and Frank.

College Honeymoon in South America.

Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Mitchell of Bronxville, N. Y., are making known the engagement of their daughter and Mr. Wing, son of Mr. and Mrs. John E. Wing of Evanston. Miss Mitchell attended Connecticut College for Women, and her fiancé is being graduated this month from Wesleyan university in Middletown, Conn.

The wedding will take place on June 21 in Bronxville and Mr. Wing and his bride will sail for South America to attend the summer school for North American students at the University of Chile in Santiago. Mr. and Mrs. Wing will go east for their son's graduation on June 15 and the wedding the next Saturday. The Spanish language, Spanish and Spanish-American literature, and modern history of the Americas are taught at the South American summer school.

A dinner-dance that Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Wilhelm will give tonight at their new home in Lake Bluff will be a double celebration for today is the 30th anniversary of their marriage, and the party also is a housewarming. The house is not a new one, for the Wilhelms bought Mrs. George A. McKinlock's place about a year ago, but they have remodeled it somewhat, and this is the first time they have entertained in it.

The former Jean Cudahy and Mr. Wilhelm have invited about 50 friends and relatives to tonight's party, which is to be an Hawaiian one. Their only daughter, Mrs. Daggett Harvey, and her husband will be there, but their son, David, who is a junior at Yale, cannot leave New Haven just now. He is on the Yale polo team which will be playing in the collegiate tournament next week. If the team makes the finals, the Wilhelms will go east for the last match next Saturday.

Mrs. Thomas Beals Entertains Tomorrow.

Before she closes her home in Highland Park and moves into town for the summer, Mrs. Thomas Beals will entertain at tea tomorrow for her son, James Thomas Taussig, and his fiancée, Miss Jane Gregg Cummings, who will be married on June 28.

Mrs. George Mahoney will give a tea for Miss Cummings next Wednesday, and the following Saturday is reserved for the Walker Morgans' cocktail party. Mrs. Robert Emery is inviting friends of the bride to a kitchen shower on June 18 at the Saddle and Cycle club, and Miss Beth Coleman will entertain at luncheon on the 22d in Lake Forest.

Mr. Taussig and his bride will go to Cambridge, Mass. where he will take a summer course at Harvard university. As soon as the term is over they will head west for the Walter Paepckes' ranch in Perry Park, Col. They will be at home in Chicago in the autumn.

Miss Martha Towle and Miss Adele Taylor will give a personal shower this afternoon in the Towle home for Miss Helen Chancellor, who will become Mrs. Francis Dewes Burgweger on June 21.

The Walter S. Brewsters are giving a luncheon at home in Lake Forest tomorrow as a farewell to themselves, for they will be moving into their town house next week. The George A. Ranneys are to have the Brewsters' country house again this summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Sturgis are arriving from New York today. The former Mrs. Bartholomay Osborne and her bridegroom of May 4 will not be here long however, for they are on their way west.

Mr. and Mrs. Justin W. Dart, she the former Jane Bryan of the films, became the parents of a son yesterday at Passavant hospital. Mr. Dart has two sons by a previous marriage, Justin Jr., 11, and Peter, 8, who make their home with their mother, Mrs. John W. Stephen. Mrs. Dart is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James O'Brien of Los Angeles, Cal.

Cliff Dwellers Hold Annual Barbecue Today.

The annual grand barbecue of the Cliff Dwellers will be held today, rain or shine, at the Group camp in the Indiana Dunes. There will be a hearty barbecue luncheon, al fresco, at noon, and a supper in the evening. Members of the Cliff Dwellers and their guests go south by motor or electric train.

A little rain won't harm the party for a new central building has gone up at the camp, which is in the nature of a natural bowl.

For a dollar you can buy a book of old and new British recipes, including formulas for bannock loaf, Yorkshire parkin, simnel cake, Caledonian wedding cake, parsnip wine. The proceeds from the sale of the book go to civilian relief in Britain.

The dearly loved steak and kidney pie, suet pudding, and plum pudding are to be found among the recipes, of course. So is a mutton and kidney dish called "toad in the hole." And among the older recipes you'll find:

"THE POOR KNIGHTS OF WINDSOR."

"Cut some slices of bread about ¼ inch thick; lay them to soak a while in white wine and sugar; cast two or three yolks of eggs; take the bread out of the wine and dip it amongst the eggs; have some fresh butter boiling in the frying pan; put in the bread and fry them to a fine brown; then dish them, and strew sugar and cinnamon over them. You may serve them with wine if you choose."

The British War Relief society has the book for sale at 30 North Michigan and at 615 North Michigan.

Put some of those fresh strawberries thru a sieve and have a fine, homemade strawberry sherbet, like this.

Strawberry Sherbet.

[Serves Four.]
1 pint strawberries, sieved
½ cup sugar
2 tablespoons corn sirup
Juice of 1 lemon
1 cup cold water
1 egg white, beaten stiff
¼ teaspoon salt

Combine strawberry pulp, sugar, corn sirup, and lemon juice and freeze to a mush. Add water and egg white beaten until stiff with salt. Finish freezing, beating the mixture vigorously several times during the process.

Here's something good in the way of a budget attuned dinner dish. With the beef and corn patties serve mashed or baked potatoes, chopped spinach salad, strawberry shortcake, and milk or coffee.

Beef and Corn Patties.

[Serves Six.]
¾ pound ground beef
¾ cup dry bread crumbs
¾ cup milk
¾ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
1 beaten egg
1 small onion, minced
1 cup whole kernel corn
4 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
1¾ cups tomato juice

Mix meat, ½ cup of crumbs, milk, salt, pepper, egg, onion, and corn. Shape into six patties and roll in rest of bread crumbs. Sauté in the butter until brown on both sides. Place in shallow casserole. Add flour to butter in which patties were browned, and add tomato juice gradually. Cook, stirring constantly, until smooth and thick. Pour over meat cakes, cover and bake 45 minutes in a moderate, 350 degree, oven.

Fruit Motifs for Towels

BY NANCY CABOT.

Fruit motifs for tea towels are ideal to look at when the favorite fruit is not available. Summer is the time to preserve them in natural state as well as on tea towels. These motifs vary in size, depending upon the fruit. They range from 2 by 4 to 6 by 6 inches, and may be used for luncheon sets, apron decor, or for color touches on pillows. The hot iron transfer pattern includes five motifs and detailed instructions.

For the hot iron transfer pattern of the fruit motifs for towels, No. 1622, send 10 cents in stamps or coin to the Needlework Bureau, Chicago Tribune, 220 Fifth avenue, New York City.

According to CULBERTSON

[Copyright: 1941: By Ely Culbertson.]

Experts unanimously agree that a vulnerable team should not attempt to "trap" a nonvulnerable team in the bidding. With equal vulnerability conditions it is sound strategy to pass over an opposing bid with an excellent defensive hand, thus giving the enemy plenty of leeway in which to get into trouble. [Some inexperienced players seem to feel that such tactics are unsportsmanlike. This, of course, is absurd. It is completely ethical to lay in ambush for the opponents.] In the hand below, North attempted to trap the opponents, but succeeded in trapping only himself.

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	1 diamond	1 heart
Pass	1 spade	Pass	2 hearts
Pass	Pass	Double	Pass
Pass	Pass

North liked West's spade bid so much that he decided to remain quiet in the hope that East-West's bidding would go merrily forward and that he would have an opportunity to double two or three spades. This hope was absurdly optimistic; North must have thought he was playing against children. When East took out the spade bid to two hearts, which was passed by South and West, North found himself in a truly embarrassing position. He might have bid three diamonds, of course, but there would be nothing constructive about such a bid, it would hardly elicit any action from his partner, and if the diamonds were stacked in one opponent's hand a sizeable penalty might result. North was afraid to bid no trump with his singleton heart and, therefore, rather than be bilked entirely out of his "rockcrusher," he doubled. Technically, of course, this was a business double, altho North hoped it would be construed by South as a take-out double. South, however, not dreaming that he would have a laydown game in clubs, felt that his two singletons and heart holding certainly would result in the defeat of two hearts. As a matter of fact, he was right. East-West did go down the terrific amount of one trick [100 points].

Considering that North-South had five clubs for game and rubber, this was scarcely satisfactory compensation. North should not have attempted to trap. He should have doubled one spade. This would have been a take-out double, and South would have responded with his seven card club suit. Then it would not have been at all difficult to reach the sound contract of five clubs.

Peony Society Holds Third Regional Show Today and Tomorrow

The American Peony society will hold its third regional show today and tomorrow at the Garfield Park conservatory in coöperation with the Midwest Horticultural society and the Hawthorne Garden club of the Western Electric company. Looking at Hollywood

By John Chapman

Hollywood, June 5.—Harry Carey, who has been hot stuff in the films longer than anybody else I can think of, is the most homespun guy you'll meet anywhere—and that goes for his wife, Ollie, too.

Harry is New York-born and his real name is Henry de Witt Carey II. Many a New Yorker has come out to the films and gone Hollywood. Harry is one of the few who have come out here and gone genuinely and unpretentiously western. The Carey ranch at Saugus is a real ranch with no frills about it and is staffed with Navajo Indians.

Harry and Ollie literally live out of mail order catalogues and can quote Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck prices on anything from plows to chintz. Harry even has coal oil lamps in his bedroom because he says electric light is too harsh for reading.

Many a film star has acquired a "ranch" after he's got his money. It is usually very fancy and it rarely makes any money. The Careys got their place the hard way—by homesteading it—and Harry and the original Man Who Came to Dinner, Joe Harris, cleared it. And before they filed the homestead claim the Careys had a 17 acre place in Newhall, just below where Bill Hart is now, and they pieced out Harry's Universal pictures income by raising and selling turkeys. They didn't have money enough for real turkey equipment and the birds would roost on the house.

A week from tomorrow will be the 33d anniversary of Harry's movie debut, so Paramount is whooping up a big barbecue party at the ranch—and, more than incidentally, whooping up interest in Carey's latest picture, "The Shepherd of the Hills." Which is all right, too, because "The Shepherd" is a big technicolor production and reportedly one of Harry's best jobs to date. You have to be sort of vague and say "one of" because Harry has been in more than 300 movies and even he can't remember half of them.

Carey is 63; straight, lean, strong enough to outwork the Indians on his place; quick of mind. His father was a special sessions judge in New York. Harry grew up on Carey point on Pelham bay.

He went to military academy, then thru the N. Y. U. law school. But he never hung out his shingle. [A classmate, James J. Walker, was among those who did.] Harry joined a stock company at the Yorkville theater, played a villain in tights in "When Knighthood was in Flower." Then he played the Ferris wheel circuit in a Tom show. Then he fell ill and spent his convalescence writing a play, "Montana," which had its tryout at a City Island church.

In the fall of 1906 he got a Klaw & Erlanger booking for it, toured in it four years, and made $18,000. He lost it all on another epic he wrote, "The Heart of Alaska." During summer layoffs he and Joe Harris, a stage villain, lived in a shack on Chimney Sweeps, a little island off Pelman Bay park.

When "Heart of Alaska" flopped Harry took a job making four westerns for the National Film Distributing company and June 14, 1908, faced the camera in "Bill Sharkey's Last Game." Since then he has never been out of pictures for long, and his nearest competitors for the long run record are Lionel Barrymore, Donald Crisp, and Bill Farnum. Right after he made "Trader Horn" it looked as tho he'd be out of pictures for good—for he had been in Africa so long that agents and bosses had forgotten him. But Will Rogers, in a Satevepost piece, happened to opine that Carey was the best of all the western stars, and that compliment put him back in the game.

Numerology

By Evelyn Holmes

June 7, 1941.

Universal day—Get a brand new start on something today.

Flowers—When you are in a six year you want flowers which harmonize, for that is the keynote of the year. The best idea is to use flowers which fit into the different periods of the season. When the narcissus and tulips are popular, use them for decorating the home, or give them special attention in the garden until it comes time for the chrysanthemum, which is a typical six flower. Since the six suggests beautifying the home the diea would be to use a great many flowers in the home rather than wearing them yourself. Put an extra effort on your garden so the neighbors can enjoy them, too, for six means to serve others. Especially send flowers to hospitals and homes for the aged and to shut-ins. Service is the keyword.

New Overhead! A Sun Shade in Gay Chintz

BY REA SEEGER.

Such provocative trifles as chintz covered sunshades are fascinating, not only to the susceptible shopper but to that one made of sterner stuff. After months of strictly utilitarian affairs, or the models made of cellophane and the tricky materials that also cover buns, bread, and other edibles, the sight of these giddy typically feminine toppers goes right to the head, where they belong.

Roses and garden flowers against cool white are the patterns. Handles are white painted wood and there is a neat little double ruff of the chintz high around the handle.

Some brilliant cotton sunshades are made of shantung textured material, much in the same manner as the gay chintz models. Bright red, blue, and green are the color choices . . . the big surprise in the fashion and color tieup of matching pouch bag and shoes. Bags can be bought when you pick out your sunshade, but the shoes are farther away—in the shoe departments.

Prices on all three cotton finds are extremely reasonable. The sunshades are water repellent and boast a detachable handle—thus eliminating the packing hazards.

Brand new arrivals feature Chinese design sunshades, vivid colored backgrounds with Chinese characters. When you pay for these beauties you'll have an additional glow, as part of the sum goes to Chinese relief.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 6.—Indiana university's eight man track team, champion of the Western conference, rallied from the licking received six days ago from Notre Dame in the Indiana state meet to wallop the Irish soundly and take the 16th annual Central Collegiate conference track meet tonight in Marquette university stadium.

The Hoosiers led the 28 colleges and universities, which scored in the 14 individual events and 2 relays, with 14 points. Notre Dame was second with 28½ points while Wisconsin finished third with 23⅝ points. Marquette, with 14⅝ points, nosed out Michigan State. The Spartans scored 13⅜ points.

Six thousand watched Indiana's boys get four individual championships and take the mile relay. In addition, Indiana had three second places, one third, and two fifth places.

Kane, Harris Win Twice.

Campbell Kane, voted the outstanding athlete in tonight's games, won the mile and half mile. Archie Harris took the shot put and discus throw and in this latter event broke his own one year old meet record with a toss of 173 feet 7⅞ inches. It was the third time in three weeks Harris has broken the recognized American mark of 173 feet made five years ago by Ken Carpenter of Southern California.

Paul Kendall of Indiana trailed Kane across the line in the mile and then salvaged a fifth place in the half mile. Fred Wilt was second in the two mile run and Wayne Tolliver took third. Roy Cochran, Indiana's Big Ten quarter mile champion, was second in this event and Marc Jenkins got fifth.

The above seven scored 37 points and Indiana's eighth man, Bob Burnett, led off for the Hoosiers' victorious mile relay team on which Jenkins, Kane, and Cochran finished in this order.

Tarrant Double Winner.

Leo Tarrant, Alabama State college, was the third double winner. Tarrant not only successfully defended his title in the 100 yard dash, but he added the 220 yard sprint championship tonight.

While Harris' discus mark was the feature because of his constant threat to wipe out the world record of 174 feet 2¼ inches [Harris won the Big Ten title at 174 feet 1 inch], the surprise of the meet was Roy Cochran's defeat in the quarter mile. Cochran was licked by Bill Lyda of Oklahoma, Big Six champion who has bettered 48 seconds repeatedly.

The hurdle races, altho run in mediocre times, offered excitement when John Saunders of Miami, O., whipped Charles Hlad of Michigan Normal by inches in the 120 yard high hurdles, and Harold Stickel of Pittsburgh took the 220 low hurdle cham-

Feller May Be in the Army by End of August

Cleveland, O., June 6 (AP).—Pitcher Bob Feller's selective service questionnaire was mailed to him today, and there were prospects that he might be called for duty by late August.

Informed that he could expect to receive the document tomorrow, the ace fireballer said "If I've got to go, I've got to go. Everybody's got to put in their time.

"I won't ask for deferment and only want the same treatment as everybody else."

ARNOVICH FACES CALL.

Superior, Wis., June 6 (AP).—Morris Arnovich, New York Giants outfielder, has been ordered to report to his local select service draft board here for re-examination, R. T. Ludolph, chief clerk of the seventh district board of appeals, said today.

Altho Arnovich had a low draft number, he was deferred last spring because of a dental deficiency. Since that time selective service dental requirements have been changed.

Champions Do Their Stuff in Central Meet

Whirlaway Is Odds On for Belmont Stakes

New York, June 6 [Special].—Warren Wright's Whirlaway today was a prohibitive choice to win the 73d renewal of the Belmont stakes tomorrow at Belmont Park and chief interest centered on his possible record making performance and how the three other starters would finish.

Handicappers and price makers, recalling Whirlaway's sparkling victories in the Kentucky Derby and Preakness, climaxed by his 2:02 2-5 mile and a quarter workout Wednesday, said Whirlaway would go to the post as short as 1 to 10 in his attempt to win horse racing's triple crown. This feat has been accomplished by only four thorobreds—Sir Barton, Gallant Fox, Omaha, and War Admiral.

Slated to go to the post with the Calumet colt are Itabo, Robert Morris, and Yankee Chance, but none is calculated to give the long striding son of Imported Blenheim II.-Dustwhirl much of a tussle in the mile and a half event.

Eddie Arcaro, who replaced Wendell Eads, regular stable jockey aboard Whirlaway in the Derby and Preakness, again will have the leg up. Carrol Bierman will ride Itabo, Alfred Robertson will be on Robert Morris, while Yankee Chance will have Basil James as rider.

The four starters will give the Belmont a gross value of $52,270, with the winner netting $39,870. If Whirlaway wins it will bring his total winnings to $234,561.

A Cub Misplay Gives Dodgers 4 to 1 Victory

BY EDWARD BURNS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Brooklyn, N. Y., June 6.—The Cubs, who canceled an exhibition engagement in Reading, Pa., tonight to help the Dodgers celebrate Brooklyn's first lamplit fiesta of the season, were just the foils the Dodgers craved for the occasion. The Chicagoans scored first to add to the excitement of 32,061 superheated Flatbush enthusiasts, but when it was over Kirby Higbe and fellow Dodgers were victors, 4 to 1, and Brooklyn remained in first place, both on percentage points and on the won and lost basis.

The game blew up in the home sixth after Bob Sturgeon, who has been playing so brilliantly for many games, fumbled a double play toss from Lou Stringer that would have taken Jake Mooty out of the inning. Thereafter the Dodgers scored their three-run margin of victory, two of the counters coming home on a double by Higbe. The first run of the game was highly statistical as well as eminently inadequate. In the fourth inning Dom Dallessandro led off with his 15th double, which placed him in a tie with Johnny Mize for double socking honors in the National league. Dom scored on Bill Nicholson's single and that increased Bill's leading run batted in total to 42.

Higbe Just Too Good.

The Cubs made five hits in all off Higbe, who, by the way, has whipped the Cubs four times since he was one of them and never has dropped a decision to his former mates. He did it twice as a Philly last season and twice here this year.

In the third inning the Cubs engaged in a big quarrel with Umpire Beans Reardon over a claim of interference against Bill Herman. Coach Dizzy Dean and Catcher Clyde McCullough became the first Cubs to be chased this season before quiet was restored.

And here's the detail of the Chicago fourth, the first scoring inning of the evening: Dallessandro banged a double off the scoreboard in right and promptly scored on Nicholson's first hit, a single to right. Novikoff forced Nicholson on a mean bounder to Lavagetto, then Cavarretta and Scheffing walked, loading the bases. Sturgeon grounded into a double play launched by Reese.

Dodgers Tie It Up.

The Dodgers went out in order in the fourth, but, after tendering the same kind of treatment to the Cubs in the fifth, came back in their half of that inning to tie the score. Higbe

THREE RED SOX HOMERS DEFEAT WHITE SOX, 6-3

Tabor, Williams, Foxx Pounce on Rigney.

BY IRVING VAUGHAN.

Boston's Red Sox met up with their cousin, John Rigney, again yesterday and the result put a noticeable crimp in the White Sox's aim at first place in the American league race, which rapidly is developing into a six sided free for all. Cousin Rigney threw the home run ball, his specialty against the Bostonese, and after four innings of unprofitable labor was sent away with a 6 to 3 beating burdening his broad shoulders. So the Chicagoans now are two games from the top and are being pressed closely by their current foes.

Rigney's appearance was especially profitable, as usual, for gangling Ted Williams, who admits he's a great hitter. He doubled in the first inning which became a three run affair because Jim Foxx boomed his eighth 1941 homer into the seats. Williams hit No. 10 and his fourth of the year off Rigney, in the third with one on base. The home run ball showed up again in the fourth, and this time Jim Tabor was the beneficiary, thereby registering the last enemy run. Thereafter Buck Ross stopped Williams and all the other wearers of red hose, except for one single by Tabor.

Rally Comes Too Late.

The lone White Sox achievement was the rout of Joe Dobson, ex-Indian, but this bit of enterprise wasn't staged until after the enemy had done all their scoring on the three aforementioned homers. Dobson checked Jim Dykes' boys on two hits for five innings but in the sixth Luke Appling, Joe Kuhel, Dario Lodigiani, and Mike Kreevich melted him down in a hurry with a three run flurry which brought Mike Ryba, the former Cardinal handyman, to the rescue.

Rigney had no trouble with the first two men in the opening inning but things changed rapidly. Williams dropped a double in left center and Rigney was so relieved over the fact that it wasn't a homer that he walked Cronin. A moment later Foxx blasted his eighth homer into the left field seats, Williams and Cronin preceding him across the plate. Rigney apparently wanted more. He walked Tabor but before anybody else could do any hitting or walking, Tabor tried to steal and was thrown out.

Williams Gets No. 10.

The two runs in the third were recorded without any lost motion. DiMaggio simply walked with none gone and after Finney had been retired, Williams plunked No. 10 into the upper right field story. Tabor got into Rigney's home run parade at the start of the fourth by whistling his seventh homer into the seats in left center. Newsom followed with a two bagger

Interlude.

Somehow I know not where or when,
I'm sure that we will meet again.
I'll send a message on its way
Inviting you to tea one day,
And I'll await your step, my dear,
Much slower than in yesteryear,
And we will sit beside the fire
For hours—until we both shall tire,
And as we drink our cup of tea
We'll swing the doors of memory
As there we wander—just we two—
And share the dreams we used to do.
O, what a lovely time we'll spend.
Can you not see it all, my friend?
We'll banish all the miles and tears
By chatter and the cup that cheers.
Altho it seems so far away,
This interlude in which we'll stray—
Sometime—somehow—you'll come to me
Beside the fire and have some tea.

Dreamers.

The dreamer with nothing to show;
The builder's the man, with the labor worn hand,
Who works out the thing the dreamer has planned.
The dreamer has prisoned the lightning,
The dreamer has fettered the steam,
We fly thru the air, without worry or care,
The material result of a dream.
The waves of the ether are harnessed,
The builder but thought it a dream—
The dreamer's the man who thinks of the plan

HEAFNER, WOOD, LITTLE CATCH UP AT 36 HOLES

Play Is Delayed as Storm Hits Twice.

BY CHARLES BARTLETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]

Fort Worth, Tex., June. 6.—This is the story, in accordance with the best traditions of reporting confusion, that should start with that classic line, "All is chaos." But some portion of the second day of the forty-fifth National Open golf tournament can be cleared up to the extent of stating that four of the most dangerous parties in the show, including the defending champion, are tied for the 36 hole lead at 144, four over par for that distance at the Colonial club course.

That foursome upon whom the rain soaked galleries of this incubator of golf will concentrate in tomorrow's final 36 holes consists of Lawson Little of San Francisco, winner of the playoff in Cleveland last year; Craig Wood of New York, runnerup for the title in 1939; Denny Shute of Chicago, and Clayton Heafner of Linville, N. C.

Little Still the Head Man.

Little indicated that he is still very much the head man by shooting a 73 to add to his 71 of yesterday. Wood, playing with a couple of fellows who should know—Tom Armour and Willie Turnesa—turned in, in their opinions, one of the finest rounds they ever have seen in the open. It was a 71 that made the hard luck champion of them all still a contender for the championship he never has won. He achieved it in spite of the fact that he was wearing a polo belt to protect the back injury he suffered a few weeks ago in the quaint business of sneezing while reaching for a dropped razor blade.

Shute, the lean Chicago pro who was the only man in the field of yesterday's 163 starters to break Colonial's par of 70, typified the day's action by finishing with a 2—7—3 climax. Heafner wandered around in his second 72.

It Rains and Rains.

The program was conducted under the worst weather conditions the Open ever has witnessed. Not since Sam Parks won the tournament at Oakmont in 1935 has there been as heavy a rain. Twice during the day—at 9 o'clock this morning and at 4 o'clock this afternoon—officials of the United States Golf association blew their fancy siren to halt play. Such redoubtable performers as Jimmy Demaret, Olin Dutra, and Bob MacDonald just swam home from the deluge and said, "That was enough." Several of the pros in the field felt that the second round might have been called off before noon, when the downpour included an admixture of hail. The USGA, however, ruled, after the matinee rainstorm had reached the double feature stage, that play should continue.

Two gents who have been around the Open for a spell or so are in a comfortable spot to be on top tomorrow night. One of them is Dick Metz of Oak Park, Ill., runner-up for the 1938 championship, who, barring three three putt greens on the fifth, 16th and 17th holes, might well have been off there by himself. Joining Dick's 145 was Paul Runyan. The 150 pound White Plains, N. Y., pro, who has twice won the national PGA tournament and thereby merited the title of Little Poison, went around in 72 for a 145. His performance bore out the prophecy that the little guys might do well off Colonial's none too generous tees.

Six Tied at 146.

Locked at 146 was a sixsome capable of annoying the leaders in the final 36. The sextet included Sam Snead of Hot Springs, Va., runner-up in 1937 and pace setter in the first round last year. Snead is in the same shape tonight as Wood, having come down with a back ailment a few weeks ago, but all he did today was a small 70. That figure projected him into the picture with a clarity that struck a certain amount of respect from all of the lads.

Of course, the fellows who tied Snead at that mark are not to be disregarded. Certainly you wouldn't overlook such practitioners as John Bulla of Chicago; Byron Nelson of Toledo, O., winner of that same 1939 battle with Wood and Shute; Henry Ransom of Fort Worth, who shot a record tying nine of 31 yesterday and fought back with a 74 today, including a penalty on the 18th hole, Harold [Jug] McSpaden of Boston, runner-up to Shute for the 1937 national PGA crown, and Herman Barron, New York pro, who finished with 75—71—146.

THE GUMPS—JUST A DOWNTRODDEN MALE

BY EDWARD PRELL.

If those earnest oarsmen from Lane Technical High school successfully defend their two city championships on the Lincoln park lagoon tomorrow afternoon they'll have to do it the hard way.

To do so they may need more luck than they had last night when drawings were made at the Lincoln Park Boat club by officials of the Central States Schoolboy Rowing association, who will be in charge of tomorrow's races involving senior and junior crews from Lane, Schurz, and Waller. This is a semifinal to Chicago's main event water show of the summer—the first annual C. S. S. R. A. regatta a week from tomorrow over the same course.

This is where the Lane lads—and the draw—come in. The draw caught the Techmen right in the middle. Both the seniors and juniors drew opponents in the first round, which will make it necessary for them to win two races each if they are to retain their city titles and earn the right to represent Chicago in the June 15 regatta against strong schoolboy competition from the central states and east.

The Lane seniors drew Waller's eight in the first round, and the oarsmen from Schurz drew a bye. In the junior division Waller was the lucky crew when the names of Lane and Schurz were drawn.

Tomorrow's championship races will start at 2 o'clock. This semifinal is sponsored by THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE, the boat club, and the recreation division of the Chicago park district, as is the regatta.

Climaxing a week of hard preparation for tomorrow's tests, each of the three senior crews will go up against strong opposition today. The Waller and Schurz eights will go to Culver to row the military academy seniors and juniors. Lane's seniors will go to Delafield, Wis., for a duel with St. John's Military academy.

LITWHILER RUINS 3D NO-HIT GAME FOR VANDER MEER

Philadelphia, Pa., June 6 (AP).—Southpaw Johnny Vander Meer, who hurled two consecutive no-hit games for Cincinnati three years ago, almost turned the trick for the Reds again tonight, shutting out the Phillies, 7 to 0, with one scratch hit and striking out 12.

Danny Litwhiler got the Phils' lone hit in the second inning, beating out an infield tap to Shortstop Eddie Joost. Altogether Vander Meer permitted only two Phils to reach first base and hurled perfect ball after Litwhiler's safety, retiring 23 men in a row. Stan Benjamin, who walked in the first inning, was the other Phil to get on base. He was promptly caught trying to steal. Score:

New York, June 6 (AP).—The Pittsburgh Pirates won a double-header from the New York Giants today on the fine pitching of Max Butcher and Truett Sewell. They won the first game, 5 to 4, with Butcher hurling six hit ball, and took the second, 4 to 3, behind the five hit work of Sewell, who tied the major league record for pitchers with 11 assists. He also had one putout, making him a dozen fielding chances handled cleanly for a new National league record. His three assists in the third inning tied another record and the 21 putouts by First Baseman Elbie Fletcher of the Pirates also tied a league mark.

Feller Blanks Athletics, 2-0; 12th Triumph

Cleveland, O., June 6 (AP).—Bob Feller today pitched a four hit, 2 to 0 victory over the Philadelphia Athletics for his twelfth success of the season. It was the young strikeout king's fourth triumph since any of his Cleveland pitching mates won even one. The last non-Feller triumph was Jim Bagby's 4 to 2 defeat of the St. Louis Browns on May 24.

It was Feller's seventh victory in succession and his fourth shutout. He struck out 11 men to run his season total to 101, and issued no walks. Feller has been beaten only twice this season. Score:

Baseball's Men in Blue

A RARITY among umpires is Ernest Stewart—because he's a college man. . . . Born in Rock Springs, Tex., July 28, 1910, but family moved soon thereafter to California. . . . While a pupil at Long Beach, Cal., Polytechnic High he earned letters in football, baseball, basketball and track. . . . Hiked the 100 yard dash several times in 10 seconds flat. . . . Enrolled at the University of California in 1930 and joined the track squad. . . .

Ernest Stewart.

Discouraged by the fact that another member of the squad, Frank Wycoff, could step the century in 9.3-5 seconds, Stewart decided his athletic talents might be put to better use in other lines. . . . He specialized in baseball. . . . Proved good enough to put in three years of center fielding with the varsity nine. . . . Upon graduation in 1934 he was signed by Portland of the Pacific Coast league. . . . Wasn't able to make the grade, so turned to umpiring. . . . Worked part of the 1936 season in the Pacific Coast league, was in the Western association in 1937, the Three Eye in 1938, and in the American association the two following years. . . . Was added to the American league staff during the past winter.

Red Sox Home Runs Beat Sox and Rigney, 6-3

to left, but later was sliced down between third and home on Dobson's tap to Lodigiani. With the finish of the inning Rigney was excused.

The domestic Sox didn't rise to an indignant state in the sixth until after Kolloway had fouled out. Appling started Dobson's demise by singling to center and Kuhel duplicated the hit. Wright's fly was caught by Williams, Appling scoring on the play. Lodigiani whistled a single thru short and the bases were loaded to capacity when Kreevich walked. Hoag rammed a single into right, sending Kuhel and Lodigiani home and at the same time relieving Dobson of further worry. Ryba relieved him and closed the inning on Tresh's fly to DiMaggio.

Eddie Smith of the White Sox solved a pitching shortage by having himself knocked out after two innings against the Athletics Thursday. Thus he will be able to come back this afternoon in the second of the set with Boston. The Red Sox starter will be Jack Wilson.

Ted Lyons will be back on his regular Sunday schedule tomorrow. He'll handle one-half and Thornton Lee the other of the double header with Boston. Ol' Mose Grove and Heber Newsome will furnish the pitching opposition.

NOVA FLATTENS JIM ROBINSON IN THIRD ROUND

was tagged by Scheffing after topping the ball in front of the plate. Reese knocked his third hit, a triple to center, and scored the tying run on Herman's fly to center. It was Bill's seventh run batted in of the season, all since he became a Dodger.

Then Came Disaster.

Then came the blowup in the Brooklyn sixth. Camilli walked on four pitches, but Walker popped to Hack. Stringer made a fine play to come up with Lavagetto's sizzling double play grounder, but Sturgeon dropped his throw, Camilli reaching second and Lavagetto first. Medwick supplied the second out with a fly to Novikoff, but Owen singled to right, scoring Camilli with what turned out to be the winning run. Higbe, who had driven in the first two runs and put another scorer on third in a 4 to 3 Dodger victory here May 3, played an encore in his batting phase with a double over Nicholson's head which scored Lavagetto and Owen. Higbe went on to third on the throw in but Reese was retired for the first and only time on a pop to Stringer.

PASTOR-EDITOR FREED BY JURY ON LIBEL CHARGE

Rev. Elmer Williams, pensioned Methodist minister and publisher of a magazine called Lightnin', was acquitted by a jury which deliberated only 20 minutes last evening in Judge Walter La Buy's Criminal court. He was accused by the state's attorney's office of criminal libel against Capt. Daniel A. Gilbert, chief investigator for the prosecutor, and M. L. Zuckerman and Barney Novak, furriers at 17 North State street.

The indictment was based on an article published by Rev. Williams in the October 1940 issue of his magazine in which he accused Gilbert and the furriers with cooperating in a fur racket. Thru Attorney Lloyd Heth the Rev. Williams defended himself on the ground of the truth of the article. The state charged that the article was without factual basis.

The accusation against Capt. Gilbert and the furriers was based on a raid in January, 1938, by the state's attorney's police on the fur store of Theodore Dalpe. The police seized furs allegedly stolen in a Champaign burglary. Dalpe was convicted of the charge of receiving stolen property, but his case was reversed by the Supreme court.

The Supreme court held the search and seizure against Dalpe was a violation of his constitutional right. The state never retried the case and later dismissed it. Dalpe subsequently filed suit for false arrest against Capt. Gilbert and his police. The suit is still pending in Woodstock.

The question of who has the longest beard in Michigan City, Ind., was settled without argument yesterday. And it isn't Harold K. Barr, local photographer. Barr challenged all comers a few days ago when some one cast a slur on the beard he's growing in preparation for the Gay '90s celebration to mark the 50th annual Chicago-Michigan City yacht race June 21, sponsored by Chicago's Columbia Yacht club.

T. C. Mullen, park board chairman, accepted on behalf of an unnamed contender. Mayor Fred Parker was named judge. The contestants agreed to meet at 3 p. m. yesterday at 5th and Franklin, Michigan City's busiest corner. Every one arrived, Mullen bringing four heavily-bearded men whom the mayor promptly waved aside in Barr's favor. Mullen grinned and lifted a hand.

The door of a closed fire truck opened and out stepped Mullen's secret entry. His beard measured nine inches against Barr's 2-3 of an inch. "He wins!" cried the mayor.

CHEVROLET DIES; AUTO DESIGNER, DEAN OF RACERS

Organizer of Company Bearing Name.

Detroit, Mich., June 6 [Special].—Louis Chevrolet, pioneer motor car designer and the dean of racing automobile drivers, died at his home here today at the age of 62. He had been in poor health for several years and in retirement for a decade.

Louis Chevrolet.

Altho Chevrolet built the first of the now popular automobiles that bear his name, his greatest triumphs were in driving and designing racing cars. In his earlier days he was regarded as one of the greatest of all racing car pilots.

Driving a Fiat in his first race in 1905 he set a new world record for a measured mile in defeating the already famous Barney Oldfield.

Designs Speedway Winners.

His greatest achievement in designing and building racing cars was his construction of two consecutive Indianapolis speedway winners—in 1920 and 1921. His brother, Gaston Chevrolet, drove the 1920 winner a few months before he was killed in a collision at the Los Angeles speed way. The other was driven by Tommy Milton.

Chevrolet was born in Switzerland on Christmas day in 1878. He served an apprenticeship in a French automobile factory and came to the United States in 1901. In 1911 he organized the Chevrolet Motor company to produce a large six cylinder model.

Sells Out to Durant.

In 1915 he sold his holdings to W. C. Durant, another pioneer automobile maker, who built up the company and used it to regain for a time control of General Motors, which he had lost in 1910.

A year later Chevrolet built the Frontenac racer. In 1925 he extended his racing career to water and was top winner at the Miami regatta.

Surviving him are his widow and one son. Burial will be in Indianapolis next Tuesday.

HOLDS DOWN JOB AT 93 HE BEGAN WHEN HE WAS 72

Rockford, Ill., June 6 [Special].—Joseph Henry Whittlesey celebrated his 93d birthday here today by working eight hours making kitchen strainer frames at his bench at the Washburn company, manufacturers of cooking utensils. He said he'd been working only five hours a day since Christmas, in compliance with his family's wishes, but he always stays eight hours on Friday, because it's pay day.

Mr. Whittlesey, a slight little man with a small white beard, recalled that he worked 10 hours a day when he began his career as machine operator 21 years ago—when he was only 72. He operates two machines and a round-end lever now.

Born on a Winnebago county farm 12 miles west of Rockford, Whittlesey resided there until moving to Rockford in 1899. His father, Edmund Whittlesey, came to the county in 1836.

BOYS PLAN RITES FOR A MAN WHOM THEY BEFRIENDED

Trempella, with whom the boys soon became friends, said little about himself, but mentioned that he'd like to visit his sister downstate whom he had not seen for years. The boys were planning to pay for the trip, but Trempella died of a heart attack yesterday. The boys said they would make plans for his funeral instead. No one knows his sister's name.

FORD TO CLOSE 14 OF 16 BRANCH ASSEMBLY UNITS

Workers' Slowdown Strikes Blamed.

Detroit, Mich., June 6 [Special].—The Ford Motor company disclosed tonight that it would close its River Rouge plant assembly line and 14 of its 16 branch assembly plants tomorrow because of a shortage of motors and materials which the company ascribed to slowdown strikes by workers.

Ray Rousch, superintendent of the Rouge plant, said the Rouge plant has been producing only 4,500 motors daily, altho capacity for the number of men employed is 5,800 motors. A daily production of 5,350 motors is required to keep assembly lines busy, he said.

Rousch said that inasmuch as the branch plants as well as Rouge had exhausted their reserve materials, whether the plants would reopen Monday would depend on whether supplies arrived.

CIO Denies Slowdown.

A spokesman for the CIO United Auto Workers denied there had been a slowdown at the Rouge plant.

"There has been reduced production due to a lack of man power," the spokesman said. "There have been no new employés hired at Rouge since mid-April. An average of 75 employés a day have been dropped from the working force since then thru voluntary quittings, sickness and death, and these men have not been replaced. The supervision has admitted that such is the case."

Rousch said nine of the branch plants—Atlanta, Buffalo, Dallas, Edgewater, N. J., Louisville, Memphis, Norfolk, St. Paul and Summerville, Mass. —were unable to operate last Monday.

Shutdown Losses Told.

Rousch said the shutdowns amounted to a loss of 35,000 man days, which, it was estimated, might amount to a loss of more than $280,000 to the workers affected.

He did not amplify his charge that slowdown tactics were responsible for the shortage of motors and it could not be learned whether the subject was discussed at today's conferences between the union, which recently won a National Labor Relations board election at the Ford Rouge and Lincoln plants, and the company.

Earlier the Ford company announced the sale of two small branch parts plants to the United States government. They are in Boston and Charlotte, N. C.

A deal for the sale of another plant at Seattle is in progress. It is understood the government plans to use the plants as warehouses.

TWO CHICAGO MEN SELECTED FOR OPM POSTS

A. B. Bassi of the Socony Oil company in Chicago will head the motor transport branch of the purchases division of the Office of Production Management, Donald M. Nelson, director, announced yesterday.

Bassi's branch is one of three newly created in the division. The others are government conservation and merchandising statistics.

Nelson also announced the appointment of another Chicagoan, F. J. Stock of the Walgreen Drug company, as special advisor on the purchase of medical and surgical supplies.

Wheat Farmer Assured Price Hike Thru Loan

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—Farmers who coöperate with this year's federal wheat production control program were virtually assured about 32 cents a bushel more for their grain than a year ago by a government price supporting loan program announced today.

Acting under recently approved legislation designed to boost grower returns from cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco and rice, the department of agriculture made public a schedule of rates at which it will make loans to producers on this year's wheat crop.

The department said the rates would average about 98 cents a bushel for wheat stored on the farm, and about the same for wheat stored in terminal markets after transportation and handling charges had been deducted.

Equal 85 Per Cent of Parity.

This average was said to be 85 per cent of parity, the department's farm price goal.

[The term "parity" is used to describe prices which would give farm products the purchasing power they had in the period 1909-1914.]

Under a similar program last year, growers received an average loan rate of 65 cents a bushel. Receipts from loans this year will be supplemented by government benefit payments of 18 cents a bushel, thereby giving coöperating growers an average total return of about $1.16. Returns available this time last year averaged about 84 cents, included the 65 cent loan and 19 cents in benefit payments.

Chicago Loan Basis $1.15.

Grain stored at the Chicago terminal market will be eligible for loans of $1.15 a bushel on No. 2 hard winter or No. 2 red winter grades, and $1.12 for No. 2 mixed. St. Louis and Milwaukee rates will be the same.

Farmers who failed to coöperate with the AAA wheat program by overplanting their acreage allotments may secure loans at 60 per cent of rates available to coöperators, on that portion of their crop produced on excess acreages. Under marketing quotas approved in a farmer referendum last Saturday, such wheat is subject to a penalty tax of 49 cents a bushel if sold or fed. This wheat could be withdrawn from loan and sold when quotas were lifted.

Loans Callable on Demand.

The loans, which are callable on demand, will bear interest at 3 per cent. They will be made up to Dec. 31 and will fall due April 30, 1942.

Under the loan program, wheat of protein content in excess of 13 per cent will be eligible for premiums ranging from 1 to 9 cents a bushel over base loan rates.

STUDY TO REDUCE NATION'S MEAT BILL ADVOCATED

Dr. W. E. Carroll, head of the animal husbandry department of the University of Illinois, yesterday recommended an intensive study of the almost 100 per cent increase in the cost of meat animals between packer and consumer in an effort to reduce the nation's meat bill.

He spoke in the Palmer House at the 53d annual convention of the National Live Stock exchange, comprised of 25 of the largest live stock exchanges in the country.

Dr. Carroll explained that in 1932 meat animals sold in the United States brought 721 million dollars at the farms, but that packers paid 861 million dollars for them at their plants. The rise from this point to the consumer, however, was almost 100 per cent—to 1,656 million dollars, he said.

BRITISH WRITE BIG PORTION OF U. S. INSURANCE

Control or Own 86 Companies Here.

British owned or controled companies write more than 10 per cent of the total fire and casualty insurance business in the United States, according to information obtained yesterday from insurance statistical agencies.

Among the important British companies operating in this country are the Alliance Assurance company and the Marine Insurance Company of London and Sea Insurance Company, Ltd., of Liverpool. American branches of these companies are operated by Federal Insurance Company of Jersey City of which Wendell L. Willkie was elected a director this week. Another director of Federal is Landon K. Thorn who accompanied Willkie on his trip to England early this year.

86 Controled by British.

British companies with which Willkie is connected thru his directorship of Federal are leaders in the marine insurance business. The president of Federal is Hendon Chubb of New York, the leading expert in this country on marine insurance, who has had close relations with the English marine underwriters for many years.

There are in all 86 British owned or controled companies that write fire and casualty insurance in the United States. This includes 45 American companies which are controled by British interests and operate as affiliates of British companies. The remainder are branch offices of British firms.

Assets of the American affiliates and branches of the British companies aggregate nearly 650 million dollars. Premiums collected last year by the companies totaled about 257 million dollars out of a total of nearly 2½ billion dollars for all companies.

The British insurance investments in this country have remained intact since the beginning of the war, altho British holdings in a number of American industrial concerns have been sold or are in the process of liquidation. While the total assets of the insurance companies aggregate nearly 650 million dollars, a large part of this total is earmarked to meet policyholders' claims and other liabilities. The actual value of the English insurance investments is not known but it is probably in the neighborhood of one third of the total reported assets.

For the Colorado and Southern it is expected to build at the Galesburg shops 100 flat cars and 30 gondola cars and at the Havelock shops 500 box cars at a total cost of $1,829,000.

For the Fort Worth and Denver City it is proposed to build 500 box cars at the Havelock shops at a cost of $1,500,000.

Other Roads Buy Cars.

The American Car and Foundry company has received orders from the Missouri Pacific for 800 50-ton box cars and from the Elgin, Joliet and Eastern for 250 70-ton dump hopper cars.

Lima Locomotive Works, Inc., received an order from Nickel Plate railway for 15 heavy freight locomotives to cost approximately $2,153,000.

Army Housing Authorized.

The war department authorized construction of new housing and other facilities at army posts costing nearly $6,000,000 in Illinois, California, and Texas. The Illinois construction, costing $1,151,400, was approved for the Rock Island arsenal. It includes a sewage disposal plant, new administration building, and road improvements.

President Roosevelt approved $7,848,900 in United States Housing authority loans to provide low rent homes for 1,961 families in 16 cities. Construction will be in the hands of local housing authorities.

BORAX AND BORIC ACID PUT UNDER PRIORITY RULE

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—The Office of Production Management put borax and boric acid under full priority control today because of a shortage caused, it said, by a strike. The order will give military requirements for the materials preference over civilian demands.

Borax is used by the army and navy for chemical purposes and for hospitals and laboratories. Boric acid is used in making borosilicate glass, which has a large variety of armament uses.

Officials said that the shortage resulted from cessation of deliveries from the American Potash and Chemical company, Trona, Cal., where a strike has been in effect for more than three months.

Germany Holds Up Excess Dividends on 'Loan Stock'

BERLIN, June 6.—German excess dividends impounded during the last three years in the so-called "loan stock" will not be distributed to shareholders before the end of the war, it was announced today. This is contrary to an original stipulation that they were to be paid out at the expiration of the third year. In some cases of high dividend paying shares, the amount impounded involves as much as 20 per cent.

More Power Capacity Held Midwest Need

Increased electrical generating capacity is needed in the middle west to meet the requirements of the national preparedness program, Leland Olds, chairman of the Federal Power commission, said yesterday at the end of a closed meeting at the Palmer House to discuss the power situation. Utility company representatives from 11 states—Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, western Pennsylvania, Wisconsin, Minnesota, Iowa, and Missouri—attended the session.

Olds said that in the Chicago area power needs at the moment are adequate but even in this region a substantial increase in generating capacity will be required by 1943.

[A nation-wide survey of power facilities, made this week by The Tribune, disclosed that utility leaders in all parts of the country except the southeast viewed their outputs as adequate and reported expansions under way for future needs.]

Estimates Area's Needs.

Olds asserted that the power commission's estimates show that the 11 state area should have 11,625,000 kilowatts available at the peak load season in the fall. This would include armament electricity. With a peak load of this amount, he said, there should be a minimum reserve of 1,582,000 kilowatts. However, he contended, there will be a shortage of 569,000 kilowatts in the minimum reserve. He said that because of the unpredictable rate of arms expansion it probably would be well to add 1,900,000 kilowatts of capacity so as to provide satisfactory minimum reserves.

The Chicago region this fall will have a generating capacity of 2,302,000 kilowatts but should have a total of 2,421,000 including reserves, he estimated. Thus for the Chicago region there will be a deficiency of 119,000 kilowatts in capacity plus satisfactory reserves. Between now and 1944, he said, 267,000 kilowatts should be added to the Chicago region generating capacity.

Cost Figures Given.

Olds said that a rough average cost for a kilowatt, including new buildings to house equipment, is $100. Thus it would require some $26,700,000 to finance the additional Chicago area power and $56,900,000 for the entire 11 states.

The companies in the immediate Chicago area which Olds included in his estimates are the Commonwealth Edison company, Central Illinois Electric and Gas company, Gary Heat, Light and Water company, Northern Indiana Public Service company, Illinois-Iowa Power company, and a small group in the Moline-Rock Island area.

Commonwealth Edison company alone estimates that it will have 2,150,000 kilowatts of generating capacity this fall. However, by 1943 it will have added 466,000 kilowatts, including 165,000 kilowatts being added this year. The company estimates that its capacity at the end of 1943 will be 2,451,000 kilowatts, including a reserve of 493,000 kilowatts. And the cost of its three year improvement program is estimated at $120,000,000.

Edison's Expansion Large.

Olds' estimates appear not to give full consideration to the Commonwealth Edison improvements, as he estimates that only 267,000 kilowatts additional will be needed for the Chicago region between now and 1944, whereas the Chicago company alone plans to add 466,000 kilowatts thru 1943.

"There has been a dangerous tendency to underestimate expansion of production required for a modern defense program," Olds told the utility group. "The requirements in the way of steel, copper, aluminum, and other raw materials have been seriously underestimated. Similarly there was a tendency to underestimate the requirements of electric power."

PLAN RATIONING OF POWER THRU SOUTHEAST AREA

Only Heavy Rain Can Prevent Action.

Atlanta, Ga., June 6 (AP).—Unless unexpected rains swiftly improve the hydro power situation in the southeast, strict rationing of industrial current will be started at 6 a. m., June 16, by five major power companies. The Georgia Power company, in confirming the rationing plan, said that definite allocations had not been worked out, but armament industries would get preference.

Companies which will operate under the allocation plan are units of the Commonwealth and Southern corporation, and are the Georgia, South Carolina, Alabama, Gulf, and Mississippi power companies.

Four States Affected.

States affected by the allocation order will be Georgia, Alabama, South Carolina, and Mississippi. Tennessee also is in the low water belt, but is supplied largely by the Tennessee Valley authority. The Georgia Power spokesman said he did not know how the TVA would function under the rationing setup altho he assumed it would participate.

Appeals for voluntary conservation of electric power already have been made thruout the area, but at a meeting here last Wednesday between power and public officials it was decided that savings effected this way would not meet the needs.

Latest forecasts promised no widespread rains for the southeast before Sunday or Monday and even then there may be only inadequate showers, it was said.

Plan No TVA Rationing.

Knoxville, Tenn., June 6 [Special].—The Tennessee Valley authority, despite announcement today that the Georgia Power company and four other privately owned utilities will start rationing electricity within the next few days, will continue its policy of power "conservation" rather than rationing.

G. O. Wessenauer, assistant chief of the power planning division, said today that TVA would make formal announcement of its power conservation program Sunday.

Thruout the power shortage crisis TVA has insisted that it has sufficient power resources to provide its contract customers and has placed responsibility for any power shortage at the door of the Aluminum Company of America, which has been consistently expanding its production to meet the demand for warplane production for the United States and Britain.

SEEK WAY TO ADD 8 MILLION NAMES TO TAX ROLLS

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—Members of the house ways and means committee were reported to be seeking a formula today which would make federal income taxpayers of approximately 8,000,000 persons who file returns, but pay no income tax. These persons escape the income levy because their exemptions, credits, and deductions equal, or more than equal, their total income.

One member said the committee's purpose was twofold: To promote tax consciousness and to help pay for the expensive job of auditing these now unproductive returns.

Approximately half of the 8,000,000 in this group filed returns for the first time in 1940, after exemptions had been lowered for single persons to $800 and for married persons to $2,000.

Transfers Fall to Only 327,570 Shares.

The Associated Press index of 60 selected stocks fell for the first time in five sessions, dropping .1 of a point to 40.2. Transactions totaled only 327,570 shares compared with 604,550 yesterday.

Jones & Laughlin Soars.

During the last hour, some interest was aroused on the drowsy floor of the exchange by a sudden climb of 6¼ points by Jones & Laughlin Steel preferred. The company's common stock rose 2⅜ on the curb. Operators heard rumors the independent steel maker might soon pay accumulated preferred dividends of $47, opening the way to common payments.

The sole new industrial prospects inclined to affect quotations were OPM requests for more steel and electric power outputs and the Ward's estimate that the automobile industry was working at the highest production rate of the year.

Among the few issues on the upside were Sperry, International Nickel, Owens-Illinois, Texas corporation, and Continental Baking preferred.

CHICAGO LIST UNEVEN.

In an irregular market, prices on the Chicago Stock exchange leveled off yesterday from the recent rise. Transfers totaled only 13,000 shares. Commonwealth Edison was the volume leader in turnover of 1,150 shares and was the only issue to record a change from the New York close during trading from 2 to 2:30 o'clock. It finished at 25⅝, up ⅛ from New York and down ⅛ from the Chicago price Thursday.

SHIP SEIZURES MAY EASE OIL CRISIS IN EAST

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—Partial easement of the threatening oil shortage in the east was considered possible today in the forthcoming requisitioning of foreign ships in American ports.

Secretary of the Interior Harold Ickes, federal petroleum administrator, made immediate representations to the maritime commission to determine how many of the foreign vessels to be taken over would be available to move oil.

It was understood the foreign ships idle in American ports included eight tankers, of German, Italian, Danish, and French registry.

However, if all these tankers were put to moving petroleum from the Gulf of Mexico to the eastern seaboard, there would be only partial relief of the expected shortage, as a committee of the oil industry estimates the present tanker deficiency as 49 vessels.

Week's Auto Production Reported Highest of Year

Detroit, Mich., June 6 (AP).—Ward's Reports, Inc., estimated today that passenger car and truck production this week would total 133,645 units, highest weekly volume of 1941. Last week's output was 106,395.

URGES TRAINING OF WOMEN FOR ARMAMENT JOBS

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—Industrial training for the thousands of women who may go to work in armament plants "within the next six months" was declared a vital part of the preparedness program today by Mary Anderson, director of the women's bureau, department of labor.

Bureau investigations, Miss Anderson said, show an "almost overnight increased demand" for woman power in factories producing aircraft, guns, powder, tanks, machine tools, and other materials. She urged that public and private officials in communities carrying a heavy load of production take steps promptly to include women in their industrial training programs in order to build up "the second line of defense workers."

KANSAS NATURAL GAS FIRM TO PAY STOCK DIVIDEND

Two Companies Vote Larger Payments.

Directors of the Kansas-Nebraska Natural Gas company, Phillipsburg, Kas., yesterday declared a 10 per cent stock dividend on the $5 par common stock and ordered an initial quarterly payment of $1.50 on the $6 preferred stock.

A dividend of 50 cents was ordered by L. C. Smith and Corona Typewriters, Inc., Syracuse, N. Y., which last paid 25 cents on April 1. An increased disbursement of 15 cents was announced also by the United States Sugar corporation, Dover, Del. The last payment was 10 cents on March 17.

Kendall Company Votes First.

Kendall company, Walpole, Mass., maker of textile products such as gauze bandages and of drug store specialties, declared a dividend of 25 cents, the first on the issue this year. The first payment this year, amounting to 10 cents, was authorized also by Knott corporation, New York, which operates a chain of hotels.

Merck & Co., Rahway, N. J., maker of drug products and chemicals, ordered a dividend of 25 cents, applying on 1,000,000 outstanding shares. The preceding payment of 60 cents on April 1 was on 300,000 shares.

DAY by DAY on the FARM by GAIL COMPTON

Corn as You Need It.

June 6, 1941.

CORN planting continues every week in the family sized vegetable garden at the Du Page county farm. The first was planted almost a month ago, and since then the gardener has been adding a few rows each week.

Under this program there will be fresh sweet corn during most of the summer. The planting is planned so that enough ears to meet consumption needs ripen each week. When that supply is gone another row will be ready for eating.

This system is applied to most of the vegetables and has proved very practical and space saving. When the early vegetables have been harvested others will be planted in their place. This answers the need of the man with only a small plot of ground to devote to vegetables. It enables him to get fresh vegetables all summer long, and also makes it possible to realize a maximum crop from a minimum amount of land.

Plant Late Potatoes.

The gardener has been busy putting in some late potatoes. Both the early and the late varieties have been planted now, and there will be plenty of potatoes for eating and for winter storing.

The farm workers have been enjoying some rhubarb from an old planting at the north end of the garden patch. The new seeding of rhubarb is barely showing, and if it weren't for the old patch there would be no fresh rhubarb pies such as have been sitting on the window sills of some of the farm homes.

Some of the big plants have been allowed to go to seed so visitors to the farm may see what the rhubarb plant looks like from beginning to end. The flowers of the plant stand about three or four feet above the huge leaves, making a very graceful picture.

Near the rhubarb is a bed of asparagus that was planted several years ago. The spears have thrust thru the ground and are ready for cutting. The asparagus bed is a small one, and eventually will be supplanted by a new seeding.

It's Surprising Plant.

A person seeing growing asparagus for the first time is likely to be surprised. The spears poke thru the ground looking just as they do on the dinner table. Unlike other vegetables they do not have leaves, branching stems, or any of the green outshoots one is apt to associate with a plant. These things develop only as the asparagus stem goes to seed. The growing shoots look as if a practical joker obtained fresh asparagus from the grocery store and stuck it into the ground.

The peas and beans are thriving and show distinctly against the rich black soil. The onion seed is up, and the tiny, thin blades look like the first fuzzy chin whiskers of a boy.

The flowering plants bordering the garden are making progress and soon will be a mass of color. Some of the peonies are in bloom. These flowers and the delphiniums got a good start early this spring, and their dark green leaves indicate they are taking full advantage of the fertile soil.

FUTURE PRICE OF EGGS CLIMBS TO 10 YEAR PEAK

Eggs for October delivery advanced to 27.75 cents a dozen, highest price in 10 years, on the Chicago Mercantile exchange yesterday. Active buying was stimulated by the announcement that the Federal Surplus Commodities corporation has extended its shell egg purchase program to the end of the year, and the trade report that the agency is paying higher prices for canned eggs. The close was 27.70 cents, a net gain of 0.50 cent. Held in check by cash market easiness, the June contract finished unchanged at 24.90 cents.

November butter futures finished 0.50 cent a pound higher at 35.90 cents with the support of improved cash prices.

PIPE LINE BONDS.

I would appreciate having your report on the Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line first 3s of '60.—L. M. J.

Answer: The Panhandle Eastern Pipe Line company last January issued $12,000,000 of first mortgage 3 per cent series B bonds due Nov. 1, 1960, as part of a refunding program to redeem its $22,500,000 funded debt which carried a 4 per cent coupon rate.

The company also sold privately $6,250,000 of first mortgage series A bonds and $5,000,000 of serial notes. The total funded debt at present is $23,281,297.

The 3s of 1960 are rated high grade. The bonds are backed by a first mortgage on the company's fixed property, subject to a $31,297 lease-hold purchase obligation which has a prior lien. The series B bonds have equal position with the series A issue but have priority over the serial notes.

Earnings of the company in the last seven years have been sufficient to cover its fixed charges an average of 3.17 times. The excess of earnings over fixed charges has increased in recent years. In the 12 months ended March 31, 1941, fixed charges were earned 5.15 times against 4.76 times in the preceding year.

As a result of the recent refinancing, annual interest requirements on the funded debt have been reduced from $903,333 in 1940 to a maximum of $540,625.

The company operates more than 2,000 miles of pipe line from the Amarillo gas field in Texas thru Oklahoma, Kansas, Missouri, and Illinois to a point near Dana, Ind. Thru this system it transmits natural gas which it produces or buys. The gas is distributed directly to consumers or sold to public utilities in the middle west.

Answer: A. G. Becker & Co., Chicago investment banking concern, indirectly controls the Harbor Plywood corporation, Hoquiam, Wash., thru the Metropolitan Industries company.

WHEAT IS SWEPT UPWARD IN LATE BUYING FLURRY

Loan Announcement Has Little Market Effect.

Announcement of loan rates on the 1941 wheat crop failed to attract any public interest in the wheat market yesterday until the closing minutes of the session when a slight buying flurry carried prices up 1½ cents a bushel. Soy beans advanced 1½ to 2 cents a bushel. Trading in all grains was moderate.

Lard futures recorded small gains following the announcement that government purchases for Great Britain Thursday totaled 9,377,264 pounds. Traders said this made total Federal Surplus Commodities corporation lard purchases to date 143,919,264 pounds, or almost half of the entire reserve supply of lard of 320,191,000 held in storage in this country on May 1.

Lard Trading Increases.

Trading in lard futures was largely hedging operations by the packers against sales to the FSCC. The Commodity Exchange administration reported that trading in lard futures on the Board of Trade in May aggregated 427,300,000 pounds, a 17 per cent increase over April.

Flour milling interests were again reported buying wheat and this imparted some firmness to the market, quotations remaining above the close of the preceding day thruout the session. Reports of heavy rains in parts of Oklahoma and Texas that caused widespread damage to the new wheat crop tended to limit price gains for it indicated that a large portion of the new wheat might not be of good enough quality to qualify for loans. This might add substantially to the amount of free wheat available for marketing.

Loans About as Expected.

The loan rate of $1.15 a bushel assigned for wheat stored in Chicago was about in line with trade expectations. The rate is 17 cents a bushel higher than the average farm rate, the differential accounting for freight rates, etc. The $1.15 loan rate compared with an 81 cent rate on the 1940 crop.

There was good inquiry for cash offerings of oats yesterday from feed manufacturers and shippers. Futures closed ⅛ cent higher to ⅛ cent lower. Trading in the corn pit was small with prices mostly about ½ cent higher. Rye futures sold as much as 2½ cents higher.

LIGHT HOGS RISE, HEAVY KINDS DIP; PORK MARKED UP

Small Receipts Raise Demand for Some.

Light hogs ruled strong to 10 cents higher, while the heaviest of the "lard hogs" sold steady to 10 cents lower at the stock yards yesterday. This resulted in the widest spread in six weeks between the top new crop stock and the extremely heavy butchers and sows.

Smaller receipts, coupled with a strong to 50 cents higher market for fresh cuts of pork, stimulated buying of selected light hogs.

Average and Top Up 5 Cents.

The best lots of 190 to 220 pounders reached the $9.50 a hundred pounds top, showing 5 cents gain for the day. Prices for the entire session averaged $9.25, up 5 cents.

Most of the good 230 to 260 pound butchers sold from $9.25 to $9.40, while 270 to 350 pounders brought $9 to $9.25. Extremely heavy butchers were under pressure and sold downwards from $9, some of the biggest stock selling in competition with sows.

Lambs Reach New High.

Strong to higher prices were paid for the scant supply of lambs available yesterday. A small lot of new crop stock reached $13.25 a hundredweight, a new top for the season. Last year's shorn lambs, now classed as yearlings, reached $10.25, equaling the year's top for this class. Old ewes were quoted steady, at $4.75 and below.

Despite small receipts, weakness prevailed in the market for steers, yearlings, and heifers. Beef cows sold slightly under the day before. Calves held steady. Bulls sold weak to lower.

CONFIRM WEIR'S RESIGNING FROM STEEL INSTITUTE

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 6 (AP).—A spokesman for the National Steel corporation confirmed today a report that the corporation had withdrawn as a member of the American Steel and Iron Institute and that National Steel's chairman, Ernest T. Weir, had resigned as an institute director.

The spokesman said the firm had no comment on the action.

Steel sources, however, expressed belief the resignation grew out of differences between Weir, a former institute president, and other members over wages and prices. Only a few weeks ago National Steel took the lead in granting a 10 cents an hour wage increase while the United States Steel corporation was negotiating with representatives of the CIO Steel Workers Organizing committee on wages. Other members of the institute earlier had expressed opposition to such a raise.

SHAVING CREAM TUBE WILL FOREGO TIN FOR MAKING ARMAMENTS

Washington, D. C., June 6 (AP).—The tin that has been used to make tubes for your shaving cream is going into armaments.

The Office of Production Management called on manufacturers today to effect a saving of about 70 per cent of the tin used in making tubes for shaving preparations, paints, and adhesives.

They were requested to use tin alloys instead and it was estimated that 1,000 tons of tin could be saved annually by the change.

Toolmaker Adding New Story to Chicago Plant

Large military orders have caused the Acme Industrial company, maker of precision tools, northeast corner Lake and Carroll, to build a one story top addition to its one story plant, 150 by 150 feet. Alfred S. Alschuler and R. N. Friedman, architects, said it will cost $100,000 and be completed by Aug. 1.
